Over time too many vehicles have become unserviceable or damaged beyond repair due to neglect and abuse by Force Drivers and supervisors who fail to see to the recommended maintenance schedule. The aim of this order is to optimize the care and ultimate performance of service vehicles by adherence to maintenance schedules.

ASSISTANCE TO MET OFFICE

25. When members of the staff are unable to contact their office at the Norman Manley International or Donald Sangster International Airports after a hurricane, they will report to the Motorized Patrol Division, Elletson Road or the Freeport Police Station in Montego Bay for assistance.

The Police Officer concerned will contact the National Works Agency to provide transport and will render any other assistance possible.

If telephone communication is impossible or non-existent when the MET Office wishes to pass a hurricane bulletin to Police Headquarters, etc., such bulletin will be passed in writing to the police station at the Norman Manley International Airport.

The police there will pass the information to PECC by the fastest means available. The Officer at PECC will then notify the following as to its contents – Radio Stations, Telephone Companies and Central Emergency Relief Committee.

APPENDIX 'A' GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE AND POLICY TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3707 DATED 2018-06-21

JAMAICA CONSTABULARY REVISED GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE AND POLICY

1. Introduction

Grievance Procedures are means of dispute resolution that can be used by a company to address complaints by employees. Grievances may be any measure of situation which concerns the relations between the employer and the employee or which may affect the conditions of employment, concerns, problems or complaints identified by an employee and must be made in writing. In some instances the settling of grievances becomes a sort of scoreboard that reinforces a negative mentality towards management by the labour force. However before using the grievance procedure it is expected that the employee/group will try to resolve their complaint informally.

A grievance procedure policy adaptable to modern policing will reduce fear of recrimination, prevent abuse and or overuse of the procedure, and increase confidence in the outcomes and boost worker morale. This Grievance Procedure Policy provides a medium where any member can have his /her grievance addressed justly and promptly.

2. Purpose and Scope

The purpose of the grievance procedure is to establish a system through which all employees may file a grievance and receive the assurance that as far as possible, grievable issues are dealt with equitably, and the resolution of such grievances secures the respect of the parties.

- 2.1 The use of the Grievance Procedure Policy shall be a means of ensuring a final settlement in a specific procedure for dealing with issues identified as grievances.
- 2.2 The existence of grievances within the organisation can have detrimental effect on service delivery. Grievances, therefore, should be resolved quickly and close to the point of origin as possible.
- 2.3 Members of staff have the right to representation at each stage of the procedure by a recognised Staff side organisation if they wish.
- 2.4 Any member who raises a grievance shall not in any way be victimised as a consequence. This is equally applicable to the respondent. However any member who abuses the spirit and aim of this policy by making malicious and spurious claims may be the subject of disciplinary proceedings as a consequence.
- 2.5 Stated timescales and results/decisions/recommendations must be adhered to by all parties. At the conclusion of the appeals process the final decision of the Management Board/Services Commission shall be the final decision and shall be adhered to by all parties.
- 2.6 Where any dubiety exists concerning the legitimacy of a grievance submission, the final decision on whether the matter progressed within the ambits of this policy shall rest with the Chair of the national Grievance Management Board.
- 2.7 All members who are parties to the grievance will be required to submit any information pertinent to the investigations into the matter.
- 2.8 Where a grievance is raised against a colleague by another, that member shall be advised of the allegations made against him/her at the earliest opportunity.

APPENDIX 'A' (CONT'D) TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3707 DATED 2018-06-21

2.9 If a related disciplinary issue shall arise at the time of the submission of the report the disciplinary charge shall take precedence over the grievance procedure and such proceedings suspended until the disciplinary matter(s) have been disposed of.

2.1.0 At all stages of the grievance procedure confidentiality shall be guaranteed to all parties as in so far as it is compatible with fair and just handling of the matter.

APPENDIX 'A' (CONT'D) TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3707 DATED 2018-06-21

4. Procedures

4.1 The Grievant -: A written petition of grievance must be filed in a timely manner to the chairman of the Grievance Board. The petition should state the nature of the grievance, the parties against whom the grievance is being filed and the redress being sought.

Grievance must be filed within 60 days after the results at the informal stage. The grievant should allow for sufficient use of preliminary steps which would have facilitated all attempts at resolving the matter at the informal stage. It is the responsibility of the grievant to prove by preponderance of the evidence for the grievance. Preponderance is not determined by the number of witnesses or quantity of documents but by the greater weight of all evidence.

If the grievant does not follow the guidelines set forth in the grievance procedure, the committee may dismiss the grievance.

4.2 The respondent may respond in writing to the grievance where the Grievance Board provides him/her with the opportunity so to do

4.3 The Observer may give/ provide advice to a party before a hearing but NOT during the proceedings. The observer may prepare correspondence and other documents for a party. The presence of the observer should not be disruptive to the proceedings.

4.4 The Grievance Board Chair has the responsibility of convening and presiding over all meetings of grievance hearings. The chairman shall schedule all hearing dates and meetings, make all procedural ruling regarding the grievance process, exercise complete control over all stages of the hearing. The chairman is responsible for ensuring that the committee's work is completed and delivered in a timely manner. On completion of the hearing, the Chair is responsible for compiling the findings and recommendations of the Board and submits same to the Commissioner of Police. The Chair shall be responsible to take notes and facilitate the discussions at all meetings and submit periodic brief to the commissioner of police on the outcome of each meeting.

4.5 The Grievance Board: the establishment of a grievance Board in any organisation is a part of a sound personnel management system. The Board's role is to determine without bias whether the grievance is within the jurisdiction of the grievance board and if so to hear the grievance. The Board shall appoint a secretary from among its corps at the first meeting. The board is responsible for making written findings of fact and recommendations in keeping with these findings to the Chair. Five persons shall constitute a quorum inclusive of the Chair and Secretary. The Board shall meet at least two times per month on dates agreed on by all members or otherwise as directed by the Commissioner unless there are no matters. The Board shall ensure the timely and orderly process of grievance (attempting to dispose of the grievance within six weeks from the date of pre-hearing).

4.6 The investigator is responsible for conducting investigations impartially into an issue raised in grievance. He should submit to the area commander or the board in keeping with the place from which he/she was dispatched, a written report touching on his findings during the investigation.

APPENDIX 'B' MEDICAL ARTICLE – ABC'S OF BLEEDING - DO YOU KNOW YOUR ALPHABET? TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3707 DATED 2018-06-21

ABC's of BLEEDING- Do you know your alphabet?

CASE

One Saturday night while on a lunch break at their favourite fast food restaurant, two police officers heard loud explosions of gunfire nearby in the mall. They acted quickly, and expertly responded to the threat. The criminals were seen speeding away on a motor bike. On the scene a young woman was seen on the floor awake with a wound spurting blood from her right thigh forming a puddle beneath her. How can these police officers help this lady and improve her chances of survival?

The role of a police officer is both diverse and difficult. Based on the nature of their duties and the level of criminality we currently face in Jamaica, police officers must know the fundamentals of the treatment of wounds and trauma. Currently Jamaica lacks an efficient island-wide emergency medical services system, and as such oftentimes it is the policeman who becomes the medic and first responder. Given the burden of this responsibility, if a police officer is not competent in providing basic first aid care, then he/she runs the risk of unintentionally worsening a victim's injury or reducing their chances of survival.

Additionally the police officer's job commonly includes an intimate relationship with the firearms. Injuries from firearms including self inadvertent injuries is a reality. As such police must be comfortable in the basic first aid treatment of firearms injuries and other forms of trauma. Uncontrolled bleeding is the number one cause of preventable death from trauma. This article aims to help clarify a basic approach in controlling trauma related bleeding. As a general rule, a victim's survival increases if you can keep their blood inside their body.

Guide to Trauma Response

- 1) Ensure safety of scene- If the police responder also becomes injured he/she is of no benefit to the victim. In certain instances especially in policing, special tactical approaches may be used in a relatively unsafe scene to allow medical care to the victim.
- 2) Call for Help- A team based approach is easier and more effective than a single person approach.
- 3) Determine the victim's level of responsiveness (is this person conscious or not)

Ask yourself these simple questions-

- A) Is this person alert and breathing?
- B) Is this person talking and responding to my questions?
- C) Is this person interacting with the environment and moving?

If the person is not responsive and not breathing and the patient is not obviously deceased, then Cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) is indicated. All Police should be trained in Basic Life Support and CPR.

If the person is clearly responsive and has a traumatic life threatening bleed, then follow the steps below on HOW TO STOP THE BLEED.

HOW TO STOP THE BLEED

STEP 1

Find The Source Of Bleeding. Expose and check the wound site to determine if this is "life threatening bleeding."

Life threatening bleeding- Blood spurting from wound, blood won't stop flowing from wound, blood pooling on ground, blood soaking clothing or bandages, bleeding from a loss of a part of or entire limb, bleeding in a patient who is confused or unconscious.

STEP 2

Apply Firm Direct Pressure

APPENDIX 'B' (CONT'D) TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3707 DATED 2018-06-21

Ideally use a Trauma First Aid Kit (tourniquet, hemostatic gauze (gauze impregnated with medicines that helps blood clot quickly), bandage, scissors, and gloves)

If no First Aid Kit is available then some improvisation may be required.

Use cloth to compress, compress, compress. Apply steady firm pressure to the wound using strong force to stop the bleeding. Inform the patient that this may cause some pain but is for their benefit. Use a clean cloth eg. clean shirt, gauze etc. Keep compressing until patient can be transferred to a more advanced medical facility.

STEP 3

Use A Tourniquet- If bleeding is very heavy or if it cannot be stopped with direct pressure alone then use a tourniquet.

A tourniquet is a strip of material that can be used to wrap around a limb and apply pressure. This pressure can prevent blood flow below the tourniquet. Though it can be a life saving tool, if the tourniquet is left in place for greater than two (2) hours, there is a higher risk of nerve or limb injury. With proper tourniquet use, it is an essential part of trauma management especially in partial and total limb amputations and in gunshot wounds. Though not ideal, a makeshift tourniquet can be created with a cloth, a tie, shirt etc. or other materials.

How to use a Tourniquet?

Apply the tourniquet 2-3 inches above the site of bleeding wound. Don't place a tourniquet directly over a joint (ankle, knee, elbows etc.) as this is more likely to compress nerves at these points. The tourniquet should be tightened to stop blood flow beyond where it is applied. The time that a tourniquet is tightened must be recorded to guide us about the total duration of tourniquet compression. A tourniquet should not be applied to the neck. If the area of injury and "life threatening bleeding" is in an area that a tourniquet cannot easily be applied (eg. groin, abdomen, shoulder, neck) then the site can be compressed by packing the site with clean gauze and applying direct pressure.

The police officers responded to the female and called for assistance. One member determined her level of responsiveness to be good, as she was seen moving, breathing and crying in pain. She answered basic questions about her name and address. The police informed the patient to keep on the ground and informed her that they were going to help her by applying some pressure to the wound site. They informed her that though it would be painful it would be for her own good. After applying direct pressure with a clean shirt they had, one member went to collect a tourniquet from the Trauma First Aid Kit he had in his service vehicle. He used the hemostatic gauze to compress the wound site while the other member applied a tourniquet above the injury and recorded the time. They kept talking to the victim and encouraged her and were able to transfer her to the nearest hospital where her care was continued.

This STOP THE BLEED campaign arose from a mass shooting which occurred in December 2012 at the Sandy Hook Elementary School in the USA. In that mass attack police played a pivotal role as first responders to the act of terror. Unfortunately there were deficiencies in how well police, firemen and paramedics triaged and stabilized these victims and several persons lost their lives. This initiative was born out of this experience, and aimed to educate all first responders and civilians on some basics of bleeding control and how to save a life.
