Sub. No. 2 AMENDMENT - POLICE FEDERATION - APPOINTMENT OF APPROPRIATE OFFICERS FOR SELECTION OF BRANCH BOARD REPRESENTATIVES - 2017/2018

Attached to these Orders as Appendix 'A' is an amendment to the Police Federation's List of Appropriate Officers which was previously published in Force Orders No. 3639, Part I, Sub. No. 4 dated 2017-03-02, for general information.

Sub. No. 3 MODIFICATION - FIREARM AUTHORIZATION AND IDENTIFICATION SYSTEM (FAIS) WITHIN THE JAMAICA CONSTABULARY FORCE

It has been brought to attention that, despite publication of guidelines regarding the assignment of keep and care service firearms, some service firearms are being assigned in breach of these rules. As a timely reminder, Force Orders No. 3528, Part I, Sub. No. 5 dated 2015-01-15, is hereby republished for strict compliance with modification to No. 5 of Assigning a Keep and Care Service Firearm.

Background

The system that allows for the proper accountability of firearms issued to police personnel as keep and care, needs revamping. There are numerous instances where persons who are stopped by the police, declared themselves to be police officers. Sometimes these persons produced police identification; however, there is nothing provided for them to verify that they are authorized to carry the firearm.

Members within the JCF who are issued service firearms to keep and care are usually a certain category of police officers. The absence of a proper system to quickly verify whether or not a member is authorized to be in possession of a service firearm presents a risk especially to officers performing duties in civilian attire.

Members Performing Duties in Civilian Attire

A policeman's uniform forms part of his identification. It tells the organization the person is employed in the Jamaica Constabulary Force; the level within the organization the person is at, and sometimes gives an idea of the person's length of service from the insignia worn. This therefore, plays a very important role in augmenting the identification card. This additional form of identification is not extended to persons performing duties in civilian attire because of the need for them to be less overt and less visible than uniformed police personnel. In light of this, without an established system to quickly verify that a person is authorized to carry a firearm, armed criminals may get by police roadblocks and spot checks with illegal weapons by claiming to be police personnel if they are able to produce a police identification card.

MODIFICATION - FIREARM AUTHORIZATION AND IDENTIFICATION SYSTEM (FAIS)
WITHIN THE JAMAICA CONSTABULARY FORCE (CONT'D)

Current Situation

When an armed person is stopped, declared himself as a police officer, contact is usually made with the division he is from, to verify if the person is assigned to that division and if he is authorized to be in possession of such firearm. This process may be a very lengthy and complicated one as the person in the division with whom the information lies might not be available. There are instances where it is verified that the person being checked is a police officer, however the division cannot confirm at the time that the person is authorized to carry the firearm. If the person is so authorized and is on an assignment, the assignment can sometimes get compromised by the unnecessary exposure and delays in trying to verify information in respect of the firearm. Being a police officer does not automatically authorize one to carry a service firearm, and certainly does not automatically authorize one to be in possession of a service firearm while off-duty. This vulnerability threatens the safety of the police officers on operations and presents opportunities for criminals to exploit.

Firearm Authorization and Identification System (FAIS)

The FAIS is a system that allows an officer on duty to quickly establish whether or not another officer is authorized to be in possession of a service firearm. It consists of a central database to maintain records of all firearms assigned to individuals to keep on and off duty, and an identification card that is issued to police persons who have been assigned firearms.

Central Database

All divisions must keep records of firearms that have been issued to police personnel to keep on and off duty. The following information must be captured and fed into the central database:

Firearm

1. Type
2. Make
3. Calibre
4. Serial Number – This may be used as the unique identifier of the firearm in the database
5. Division Issued to
6. Last Inspection Date
7. Comments on Inspection

Police Assigned to

1. Regulation Number
2. Rank
3. First Name
4. Last Name
5. Division Assigned to
6. Date of Assignment of Firearm

Police Emergency Control Centre must have access to the central database to respond to queries on a twenty-four hour basis. Search and retrieval of information must be quick and easy so as not to negatively affect the activities of the parties involved.

Firearm Authorization and Identification Card (FAIC)

The FAIC must be issued to police officers whenever a service firearm is issued to keep and care. It must be carried by the officer at all times and is to be produced forthwith when requested by a police in uniform, or a properly identified police officer. The card must be produced along with the police identification card that will serve as a second photo ID.

The card will have sufficient information to verify the authority with which the person carries the firearm; however, if the officer is not satisfied, Police Emergency Control Centre can be contacted for further verification. Each card must be related to only one firearm and must bear the serial number of the firearm. The following information must be included on the FAIC:

Firearm

1. Serial number of Firearm
2. Type
3. Make
4. Model
5. Calibre
6. Division Assigned

Police Assigned to

1. Regulation Number

3. Name
4. Division Assigned to
5. Date Firearm Assigned
6. Signature of Divisional Officer
7. Signature of Person Firearm is Assigned to
8. Photograph of Holder

Assigning a Keep and Care Service Firearm

Prior to issuing a keep and care service firearm the following must be done:

1. An application must be made to the supervisor (Sub-Officer/Officer) in charge of the applicant. The prescribed application form must be completed.
2. The supervisor will assess the need and forward the completed application form to the administration officer with a recommendation.
3. If recommended by the supervisor, the administration officer will cause an inspection to be done at the applicant's home to verify that the infrastructure is adequately secure, and a holding safe is appropriately installed for the firearm.
4. The administration officer will forward the application form along with the inspection report and a recommendation to the commanding officer.
5. Any Portfolio, Branch or Area Officer may approve the request of a member under his command.
6. If the application is approved, the commanding officer will complete a firearm details form with the relevant information for the firearm that is to be assigned.
7. The completed application form and the firearms details form will be sent to the Information Communication and Technology Division (ICTD) ID department for the preparation of the FAIC.
8. The ICTD ID department will update the firearms database with the data on the prospective holder.
9. The ICTD ID department will contact the applicant and give him/her a date and time to visit the office for the taking of photograph and the preparation of the FAIC.

Carrying a Keep and Care Service Firearm

The following represents the JCF's policy with respect to the carrying of a keep and care service firearm:

1. All officers armed with a service firearm to keep and care MUST carry FAIC on their person when in possession of the firearm. It is to be noted that:
 - a. the FAIC MUST be carried whether or not the officer is wearing uniform
 - b. the FAIC MUST be carried whether or not the officer is on duty
2. Where an officer is performing duties in civilian attire and carries a firearm in an exposed manner, the FAIC MUST also be worn so that it is clearly visible.
3. Police officers who are off duty and are carrying keep and care service firearm MUST ensure that the firearm is properly concealed.

Sub. No. 4 REMINDER - RADIO MANAGEMENT POLICY - JAMAICA CONSTABULARY FORCE

The Jamaica Constabulary Force Radio Management Policy which was previously published vide Force Orders No. 3548, Part I, Sub. No. 5 dated 2015-06-04, is hereby republished as a reminder to members of the need to properly manage the inventory of radios in the Jamaica Constabulary Force.

Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to improve the management, care and use of police radios (particularly portable radios) within the Jamaica Constabulary Force (JCF).

1.1 Introduction/Background

Portable radio is one of the main means of communication within the Jamaica Constabulary Force. It is a significant instrument which allows members (who are not in contact with a Base or Mobile radio) to communicate with other members or just to listen to transmissions. It becomes a critical instrument in emergency situations and can be the difference between survival and death of persons in need of assistance. In spite of the importance of this instrument, over the years, it has not been afforded the appropriate care and accountability by some members, resulting in the loss or damage of a significant number of these instruments. Some are transferred with members, some in the possession of retired members; and worst of all, some are in the possession of criminals.

Therefore, the need arises for implementation of enhanced accountability mechanisms to minimize loss/misplacement or misuse of these instruments.

2.0 Policy Statements

All processes and procedures related to the acquisition, issue, use, accountability and general management of JCF radio inventory shall be in accordance with this policy. Deviation from these procedures is a breach of Force directives and will result in disciplinary action.

3.0 Definitions

- Commanding Officer – Gazetted Officer in-charge of any unique formation in the JCF.
- Radio – An instrument used for wireless communication over a distance by use of radio waves.
- Portable Radio- A hand-held device that can both transmit and receive (a transceiver) and can be operated while in motion.
- Mobile Radio-A device which is installed in a vehicle that can both transmit and receive (a transceiver) and can be operated while in motion.
- Base Radio- A device at a fixed location that can both transmit and receive (a transceiver)

4.0 Acquisition

All radios that are purchased, or donated to the JCF will be delivered to the Officer in Charge of Telecommunications Division and entered into the database and Radio Log before being issued to any division or member. The Telecommunication Division must verify and approve the specifications of all radios before acquisition. Each radio shall be physically inspected before being entered into the database.

5.0 Database

All radios owned by the Force will be recorded in the Telecommunications Division's database. This database will be updated as soon as there is any acquisition or disposal of radios.

6.0 Radio Inventory and Continuous Accountability (Tracking)

The Telecommunications Division will maintain a current and accurate inventory of all JCF-owned radios and will take reasonable steps to ensure the security and continuous accountability of these radios. These instruments will be tracked from the time they are acquired by the Force until they are disposed of by the Telecommunications Division.

Radios that cannot be accounted for shall be reported immediately as outlined under the Disposal of Radio section of this policy.

6.1 Inventory Responsibilities

6.1.0 Telecommunications Division

The Telecommunications Division will be responsible for:

- The acquisition of all Radios used in the operations of the JCF;
- Maintaining a database and Radio Log Register with all the details of radios in stock; This database shall also reflect the divisions and members to whom radios are issued;
- Ensuring that all radios islandwide are in good working condition;
- Disabling radios that cannot be accounted for; and
- Taking reasonable steps to ensure that proper inventory is kept.

6.1.1 Divisional Inventory

All Areas/Divisions/Units that are issued with radios will be responsible for:

- Maintaining a Radio Log Register in which all details of the radios and to whom issued are entered;
- Ensuring that all radios under their control are in good working condition; and
- An inventory of all radios shall be maintained within the division/unit electronically or otherwise bearing all details of the radio and to whom issued.

6.1.2 Issuing of Radio

Members must be trained and sensitized in the use and care of any radio they are issued with. All portable radios issued to members shall be recorded in the Radio Log Register, which should bear the column headings below:-

Cons #	Date & time issued	Serial Number	Recipients' Name Rank and Number	Recipients' Signature	Name, rank and Number of Person issuing	Date and time returned	Returnee Name and Signature	Name and Signature of person accepting returned radio	Shift supervisors' name and signature
--------	--------------------	---------------	----------------------------------	-----------------------	---	------------------------	-----------------------------	---	---------------------------------------

At the end of each shift, the shift supervisor must endorse the appropriate column to authenticate the entries made.

7. Inspections

Divisional Commanders will be responsible for all radios issued to their Division and shall ensure that an inspection of all radios issued to their Division, is performed once every three months. The inspection must be documented listing any changes in the inventory. A copy of the current inventory will be attached to the documentation and maintained by the Divisional Commander. A current copy of the inventory must be sent to the Officer i/c Telecommunications Division on a quarterly basis.

8.0 Removal or Transfer from Inventory

8.1 Radios that are no longer needed by a Division/ Unit shall be immediately returned to the Telecommunications Division and the respective inventories/database updated.

8.2 Radios can only be traded or transferred to another Division/Unit/member through the Telecommunications Division.

8.3 Generally, a member shall be issued with only one portable radio. However, the following exception applies:

9.0 Defective Radio

All defective radios shall, without undue delay, be reported to the Commanding Officer whose inventory is affected. He/she will forward a report to the Telecommunications Division for repairs to be done. The respective inventories shall be updated to reflect this.

10.0 Damaged, Destroyed, Lost, or Stolen Radio

In the event of damage, destruction, theft or loss of any JCF radio, the person to whom it was issued shall, within 24 hours, forward a report to their immediate supervisor, who shall immediately initiate an investigation in the matter and forward a report to the Commanding Officer within 48 hours. However, for lost or stolen radios, this must be reported immediately to the Telecommunications Division so that the radio can be disabled. The Commanding Officer shall then forward a report to Telecommunications Division without undue delay. The accountable member shall be subjected to a disciplinary hearing, and if found negligent, shall be required to pay the equivalent for its replacement or penalized as deemed appropriate.

11.0 Request for Replacement of Radio

In the event that a radio needs to be replaced, a formal written request for such replacement must be submitted by the Commanding Officer for the division affected to the Officer in-charge of the Telecommunications Division; with the reason(s) for the replacement clearly outlined.

12.0 Accounting and Handling of Mobile and Base Radios

The accounting of all Mobile and Base radios is the full responsibility of Telecommunications Division; hence, on no account any of this equipment should be removed, altered, traded or transferred unless with the approval of the Telecommunications Division .

- Whenever a vehicle becomes defective where there is a need for it to be taken out of service or taken to a private garage, Telecommunications Division must be informed forthwith so that the radio is disabled. As soon as the vehicle returns to service, Telecommunications Division must be informed to reverse the action.

13.0 Compliance Audit

The Inspectorate of Constabulary Branch will conduct periodic audits to ensure compliance with this policy.

Sub. No. 7 REMINDER - EMAIL POLICY - JAMAICA CONSTABULARY FORCE

Force Orders No. 3619, Part I, Sub. No. 3 dated 2016-10-13, is republished for general information and strict compliance.

1.0 Purpose

The purpose of this document is to provide policy directives governing the use of the Jamaica Constabulary Force (JCF) official email. This document amends section D.5E-Mail in the Information and Communication Technology Policy for the JCF.

1.1 Background

An essential strategic priority of the JCF is the promise of effective internal and external communication. External communication facilitates the engagement of the organization's key stakeholders, primarily the citizens of Jamaica. One of the strategies employed to achieve this objective is the sharing of the Weekly Force Orders with the critical stakeholders. The perception of the JCF has since improved probably ten folds, which is evident from the discourses that it generates in the media.

While we seek to improve external communication we must simultaneously improve the way in which we communicate within. The past few years have seen revolutionary changes in the use of information and communication technology within the JCF. The use of email, in particular, has become a vital component of the total job function of the average sworn and unsworn JCF member. This significant increase in email use for work has been fueled primarily by the initiatives of a few branch and divisional commanders who sought to improve their work efficiency. The high availability of email addresses among members has helped in this regard.

The use of email within the JCF must however be managed and guided by policy in order to achieve a common standard of quality that can enhance the members' productivity and organizational success. As such, the High Command has mandated the Directors in charge of Corporate and Special Services and the Information Communication and Technology Division (ICTD) to assign all members of the JCF an official email address. The following sections outline the scope of the policy, guidelines for official use, monitoring and maintenance of the official email system.

2.0 Scope

This policy covers the appropriate use of the JCF's email as an official means of communicating by all sworn and unsworn members. The JCF official email refers to any email address with domain being jcf.gov.jm.

2.1 Official Use. All communications within the JCF in relation to matters of law enforcement and national security shall be deemed as an official use of the Constabulary's email system. Similarly, members of the Constabulary and civilians alike operating in their official capacity on behalf of the Constabulary are authorized to use the email system to communicate on matters that affect their respective specialties. For example, the Force

Chaplain in his official capacity is authorized to use the email system to conduct the affairs of the Chaplaincy, such as daily verses, counseling etc. The standard chain of command should be observed at all times, email messages must be written in standard english except where referenced matters are presented in other languages and presumed as such for evidential purposes, (for example scanned documents).

3.0 Policy. All executive command directives and communiqués to the members of the JCF that are sent by email will be considered read after two (2) days of sending, or upon acknowledgement by the recipient. All members of the Officer Corps are expected to check their emails at least twice per day and all other ranks are expected to check their emails at least once per day. Members are allowed to use their personal computers, and smart phone devices to access their JCF email accounts.

3.1 Prohibited Use. The Jamaica Constabulary Force email system shall not be used for the creation and distribution of any offensive messages, images, and videos including offensive comments that might be construed to being racist, homophobic, and irreligious. Similarly, no political statements must be made via the email system. There should be no comments that seem to target any minority group to include persons living with disabilities or suffering from any disease whether it is sexually transmitted or otherwise. Members of the Constabulary who receive any such defamatory or insensitive messages shall report same IMMEDIATELY to the Information Communication and Technology Division (ICTD) and their supervisor for departmental disciplinary proceedings to commence.

3.2 Personal Use. It is understandable that members of the Constabulary and civilians alike would have had personal email addresses prior to or even after joining or becoming associated with the Constabulary. Notwithstanding, no PERSONAL email addresses belonging to members and civilians alike must be used to conduct official police work, except for when special provision is made.

3.3 Maintenance. The capacity of the email is 10 GB, therefore, it is the responsibility of the member to ensure that the inbox is cleared prior to it reaching the capacity. If this is not done then emails that are sent afterwards will not be delivered, and even so, such emails would have been deemed SENT and RECEIVED by the sender.

3.4 Monitoring. The Jamaica Constabulary Force can monitor messages without prior notification if it deems it necessary in the interest of quality control and enhancement of the public interest.

3.5 Policy Commencement. All members are expected to access their JCF email accounts as official correspondence will be sent via email commencing April 1, 2013. Members will have three (3) months from April 1, 2013, within which to acquaint themselves with the new policy, after which all provisions of this policy becomes enforceable. Failure of any member to access their email when official correspondences are sent will be deemed a breach of discipline.

4.0 Enforcement. Any member or civilian who is found to have violated this policy may be subject to disciplinary action or criminal actions as appropriate.

Schedule of Official Communication:

Weekly Force Orders – The Weekly Force Orders will be sent to all members by way of email by 12midday on Fridays. The distribution of printed copies of the weekly Force Orders to Divisional Headquarters was discontinued as at April 5, 2013. APPENDIX 'E' GUIDELINES ON NUTRITION AND PHYSICAL ACTIVITY FOR CANCER PREVENTION
TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3641 DATED 2017-03-16

General Guidelines on Nutrition and Physical Activity for Cancer Prevention

Achieve and maintain a healthy weight throughout life.

- Be as lean as possible throughout life without being underweight.
- Avoid excess weight gain at all ages. For those who are currently overweight or obese, losing even a small amount of weight has health benefits and is a good place to start.
- Engage in regular physical activity and limit consumption of high-calorie foods and beverages as key strategies for maintaining a healthy weight.

Adopt a physically active lifestyle.

- Adults should engage in at least 150 minutes of moderate intensity or 75 minutes of vigorous intensity activity each week, or an equivalent combination, preferably spread throughout the week.
- Children and adolescents should engage in at least 1 hour of moderate or vigorous intensity activity each day, with vigorous intensity activity occurring at least 3 days each week.
- Limit sedentary behavior such as sitting, lying down, watching television, or other forms of screen-based entertainment.
- Doing some physical activity above usual activities, no matter what one's level of activity, can have many health benefits.

Consume a healthy diet, with an emphasis on plant foods.

- Choose foods and beverages in amounts that help achieve and maintain a healthy weight.
- Limit consumption of processed meat (sausage, hot dogs, bacon, corned pork, salami) and red meat.
- Eat at least 2.5 cups of vegetables and fruits each day.
- Choose whole grains instead of refined grain products.

If you drink alcoholic beverages, limit consumption.

- Drink no more than 1 drink per day for women or 2 per day for men.
