This subhead must be a subject in lectures.

Sub. No. 2 COMMUNICATION FORENSICS AND CYBERCRIME DIVISION (CFCD) STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURES (SOP)

In recent times the Communication Forensics and Cybercrime Division (CFCD) has been experiencing a number of challenges as a result of how members have been collecting, storing and transporting potential digital evidence/exhibit. These practices are not in keeping with the standards set out in the Crime Scene Investigation Policy and have been negatively impacting CFCD's input/functions as well as the expected outcome of the investigations.

In an effort to achieve maximum efficiency and to sensitize members, Appendix 'B' is a reminder to all users of the services, of the processes that should be followed when dealing with digital investigations and requesting support.

Sub. No. 5 PRIME MINISTER'S MEDAL OF APPRECIATION FOR SERVICE TO JAMAICA 2017

Attached to these Orders as Appendix 'C' is a letter and nomination form from Miss Elinor M. Felix, CD, JP, Secretary-General, Office of the Prime Minister, 1 Devon Road, P.O. Box 272, Kingston 10, inviting nominations for the possible award of the Prime Minister's Medal of Appreciation for Service to Jamaica, for general information.

Sub. No. 6 REMINDER - FIREWORKS, FIRECRACKERS, SQUIBS, ETC.

Force Orders No. 3675, Part I, Sub. No. 3 dated 2017-11-09, is hereby republished for general information.

An import licence is required to bring into the island pyrotechnic articles such as fireworks. Persons found trading in such goods without the required licence shall be subjected to prosecution and seizure of goods.

The activating, discharging or throwing of any squibs, firecracker or any other illegal fireworks in any public place is prohibited by section 3(N) of the Town and Communities Act. Persons found committing any such offence are liable for prosecution.

The activating, discharging or throwing of any squibs or firecrackers is not only frightening but many members of the public find it difficult to differentiate between the explosions of squibs or firecrackers and that of a firearm. This practice becomes more prevalent during the yuletide season and requires increased vigilance by law enforcement officials.

In addition, it is also on record that a number of houses have caught fire as a result of illegal fireworks and were either totally or partially destroyed.

Sub. No. 7 REMINDER - GRANTING OF LEAVE IN THE YULETIDE SEASON

Force Orders No. 3675, Part I, Sub. No. 4 dated 2017-11-09, is hereby republished for general information.

Commanding Officers are hereby reminded of the need to manage the grant of vacation leave and departmental leave in the period leading up to and during the yuletide season.

APPENDIX 'A' JAMAICA CONSTABULARY FORCE ETHICS COMMITTEE POLICY TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3676 DATED 2017-11-16

JAMAICA CONSTABULARY FORCE ETHICS COMMITTEE POLICY

I. INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

An explicit commitment to integrity is critical to the legitimacy of policing. The behaviour, actions and decisions of police officers must always consider public interest and uphold the highest ethical standards. Professional ethics incorporates not just integrity, but also requires members to give an account of their judgements as well as any acts of commission or omission.

Over the years, the actions of a few members have led to a heightened focus on the integrity of police officers and the Jamaica Constabulary Force (JCF) in general. However, the JCF has responded by ensuring that proper management and accountability standards are achieved and maintained through the adoption of the requisite framework and mechanisms. In addition to the introduction of a Code of Ethics and an Ethics and Integrity Policy, one of the measures taken by the JCF to be more transparent and to demonstrate its commitment to integrity was the introduction of an Ethics Committee in 2010.

The Ethics Committee seeks to offer a structured approach in examining some of the most difficult and contentious ethical issues facing the Organization and provides its members with a forum to ventilate. It is of critical importance that the JCF develops policies and procedures designed to prevent corruption and deal with allegation of corruption and unethical behavior in an expeditious and transparent manner. Failing which, the Organization may be exposed to serious reputational harm and other risks.

Force Orders 3301, Part 1 Sub No.1, dated 2010-09-09 establishing the Ethics Committee within the JCF has been revised and is hereby republished. This Policy should be read in conjunction with the JCF Ethics and Integrity Policy.

II. PURPOSE OF THE POLICY

The Policy provides a framework for the operations of the Ethics Committee and sets out guidelines and procedures to be adopted by the Committee in resolving ethical matters concerning members of the JCF.

III. SCOPE OF THE POLICY

This Policy applies to all sworn and unsworn members of the Jamaica Constabulary Force and its Auxiliary.

IV. DEFINITION OF TERMS

For the purpose of this Policy the following adopted definitions shall apply:

- A. 'Ethics' means a set of principles of moral behavior; the rules or standards governing the conduct of a person or the members of a profession.
- B. 'May' means discretionary
- C. 'Shall' means mandatory
- D. 'Member' means both sworn and non-sworn members of the Jamaica Constabulary Force and its auxiliary.

APPENDIX 'A' (CONT'D) TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3676 DATED 2017-11-16

E. 'Sworn member' means a member that is a sworn police officer of the Jamaica Constabulary Force or its Auxiliary.

F. 'Non-sworn member' means a public servant employed in the Jamaica Constabulary Force or its Auxiliary.

V. POLICY STATEMENTS

- A. Each member shall be duty-bound to appear before the Committee when so required; failure to comply will result in disciplinary action being taken;
- B. The Ethics Committee shall only deal with issues which are not the subject of any criminal, disciplinary or grievance proceedings. However, where these issues arise during the course of an intervention by the Committee, the requisite recommendations will be made to the Commissioner of Police.
- C. The level and type of intervention directed or recommended by the Ethics Committee shall be proportionate to the seriousness of the unethical behaviour.
- D. The role of the Committee is not a substitute for investigations but an alternative and it shall ensure that unacceptable behavior by serving JCF members is dealt with expeditiously and subject to the right management intervention.
- E. In deciding whether the alleged conduct of a member breaches the appropriate and applicable organizational standards, the Committee shall apply the standard of proof required in civil cases, i.e. the balance of probabilities.
- F. Case laws make clear that the degree of proof required increases with the gravity of the allegation and its potential consequences. It therefore follows that, where an allegation is likely to destroy a member's career prospects, the Committee must be satisfied to a high degree of probability that what is alleged is indeed correct.
- G. The Committee shall be guided by the principles of ethical intelligence and information gathering at all times.
- H. Where there is verifiable information or high-grade intelligence against a member such information shall be considered adverse. In this regard the JCF cannot, with confidence, put forward such an individual to undertake a particular role or to be considered for promotion. Conversely, where the information is not verifiable or the intelligence is of a low grade it may not be used against the member.
- I. All communication pertaining to Ethics Committee hearings shall be confidential and the requisite control mechanisms and management principles in relations to record keeping will be applied.

VI. VISION OF THE COMMITTEE

The vision of the Ethics Committee is to become the premier body within the JCF which supports corruption-prevention and the raising of the Force's ethical and professional standards.

APPENDIX 'A' (CONT'D) TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3676 DATED 2017-11-16

- 2) To increase public trust and confidence in policing;
- 3) To promote the adoption of ethical and values-based actions and decision making throughout the Force.
- 4) To enhance trust and confidence in the ethical governance and actions of the JCF;

IX. DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE COMMITTEE

The duties and responsibilities to be undertaken by the Ethics Committee are the following:

- 1) Conducting workshops for members who have been the subject of ethical hearings and are deemed to require rehabilitation;
- 2) Conducting lectures for members generally to sensitize them on ethical standards;
- 3) Conducting hearings into matters that arise from criminal or departmental investigations that have been disposed of, but wherein ethical issues have emerged;
- 4) Conducting hearing into matters where no investigations have been conducted and members are alleged to have not upheld the standards of the profession;

APPENDIX 'A' (CONT'D) TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3676 DATED 2017-11-16

- 8) Providing strategic and expert support and guidance to the Force's executive leadership and other decision makers;

X. ORGANIZATION AND AUTHORITY OF THE COMMITTEE

A. Membership

- 1 The Ethics Committee shall have a minimum of five (5) members, all of whom must be vetted and appointed by the Commissioner of Police. The Committee will comprise following personnel:

2. In the absence of any of the foregoing members, the person acting in the post will sit on the Committee subject to the Commissioner's approval.
3. The Ethics Committee will be supported by a Secretariat. All members of the Committee and the Secretariat shall exhibit ethical behavior, including honesty and avoidance of conflict of interest and must have passed a polygraph test or similar vetting process.

A quorum shall consist of no less than three (3) members.

C. Meetings

The Committee shall meet no less than two (2) times per month.

- i. Reject a submission, in whole or in part, and take no further action;
- ii. Refer a matter to other entities for further action to be taken;
- iii. Direct the member to undertake additional training or counselling;
- iv. Refer the individual to undertake a polygraph examination or a drug test;
- v. Require further clarification from the originator of the matter under consideration based on the response from the member;
- vi. Refer the matter for further intelligence development or investigation, based on disclosure(s) and/or new information gathered;

- c) Retirement in the public's interest.

XI. PROCEDURES

The Committee's role involves reviewing allegations of misconduct made against members; assessing the risk posed to the Organization, the member and the wider community; and making a determination as to whether the member should appear for a hearing. The Committee is also activated to consider vetting for administrative purposes such as promotion, re-enlistment, and posting/assignment.

A. Dealing with Adverse Reports/Submissions

1. Upon receipt of a report indicating that there is adverse information concerning a member, the Central Vetting Unit will notify the Committee's Chair who will convene a meeting to consider the matter.
2. Where possible, details of the report will be disclosed to the individual involved as well as to members of the Ethics Committee, in the spirit of openness, fairness and to assist decision-making.
3. Where the matter is based on intelligence, the Committee will review the available intelligence and decide whether this intelligence can be communicated to the individual. In exceptional circumstances, where it is decided not to disclose the intelligence, for example, source sensitive information, the reasons will be outlined to the individual during the meeting.
4. It is possible that there may be cases where providing reasons for non-disclosure may, in itself, compromise the source of the intelligence. In such cases no disclosure or reasoning will be provided.
5. Where the member is not required to appear, the matter may be referred for further investigation or recommended to be closed.

B. The Interview Process

1. In so far as is practicable, the hearing should be convened at the earliest opportunity to ensure that the matter is dealt with expeditiously.
2. The member should be given at least two (2) days' notice to attend the hearing.
3. The notice should be given in writing and sent through the Commanding Officer outlining the date, time, and place of the meeting and the mode of dress.
4. Where the member is required to appear, the allegation(s) will be presented, allowing for full ventilation and a determination made on the course of action to be taken.
5. Whilst rehabilitation is always desirable, there may be occasions when this will not be achievable due to the nature of the intelligence against the member.

C. Communicating the Committee's Decisions and Recommendations

APPENDIX 'A' (CONT'D) TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3676 DATED 2017-11-16

The Committee will communicate to the Commissioner of Police, its decisions/recommendations for approval. This communication to the Commissioner should set out:

A copy of this correspondence must be submitted to Administration Branch; Security and Intelligence Branch; IOC and MOCA for the updating of their records.
2. If the member is subsequently transferred to a new place of work, his/her new Commander will be informed by the Assistant Commissioner, Administration, of the findings of the Ethics Committee and any restrictions regarding working, promotion or deployment in specific roles which must be adhered to. This communication should be recorded on the file.

E. Requesting Reviews of Decisions

A member may request a review of the decision with the Commissioner, after he/she has been informed of the final decision. The Commissioner may grant or deny the request of the member.

F. Declaration of Interest

1. Committee members must inform the Chair if they have a personal interest in the individual under consideration. The Chair will decide whether the interest disqualifies the member from being involved in that particular hearing. There must be no conflict of interest in relation to the party involved in the matter.
2. Any declaration of interest and decision of the Chair must be reflected in the minutes of the meeting.
3. The member appearing before the Committee should be invited to state whether he or she has any objection to any member of the panel being present at the hearing.

- STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURES (SOP)

The Communication Forensics and Cybercrime Division (CFCD) was established as a division, effective January 31, 2016. This division which was formerly known as Communication Forensics and Cybercrime Unit (CFCU) came into existence by the merging of the Communication Intelligence Unit (CIU), the Digital Forensic Unit (DFU) and the Cybercrime Unit. CFCD is one of three (3) formations which fall under the Counter Terrorism and Organized Crime Investigation Branch (C-TOC).

The mandate of the division is to provide transparent, professional, investigative, technical support and other digital services to all police and non-police formations as deemed necessary. Utilizing Information and Communication Technologies (ICTs) to facilitate criminal activity is a reality in the Jamaican society and CFCD is consistently empowering itself to provide effective investigative support to counter these traditional and non-traditional crimes.

The following is an established standard operating procedures which should be applied when dealing with digital investigations and requesting any service from the CFCD.

- If device was found in the off position, leave it in that state and take to CFCD without delay.
- For all digital device(s) that is connected to a network consult CFCD before any action is taken.
- Only device(s) reasonably believed to be involved in a crime should be taken from a person or crime scene.
- Immediate attribution of all device(s) must be done at the crime scene or as soon as possible after. (CFCD "onsite attribution form" may be used.
- Never leave a crime scene without requesting a PIN code or PASSWORD for a digital device(s).
- Complete a rough sketch of target area.
- Check every device(s) to determine if they are potential evidence(s), when in doubt consult with CFCD.

After the crime scene

- Complete a CFCD "digital evidence form" electronically or otherwise.

- Seek examination of all digital device(s) as soon as possible and check social networks for valuable intelligence and information.
- As soon as possible convene regular case conferences with supervisors, prosecutors and CFCD representative.
- Evidence should be handled according to the Digital Evidence Standard Operating Procedure while maintaining proper chain of custody.

 - One cellular phone: 2 – 7 days (for examination)
 - One computer: 14 – 28 days (for examination)
 - All other digital devices: 2 – 7 days (for examination)
 - Video enhancement: 3 – 7 days

NOTE:

1. The average turn-around time is only an estimate and often times technical and other issues beyond CFCD's control may cause the time for completion to be extended.
2. For every request to the CFCD where evidence will be used in court, the Division must be notified at least 30 days before the first court date to prepare a report or statement.
3. For all internet based investigation, assistance must be sort from the CFCD.

5. Only applications with scheduled offences will be treated by CFCD.
6. ALL DIGITAL DEVICE FOR EXAMINATION MUST BE TAKEN TO CFCD BETWEEN THE HOURS OF 9:00AM – 5:00PM MONDAYS TO FRIDAYS AND 10:00AM – 4:00PM ON SATURDAYS.

APPENDIX 'D' SUBSTANCE/DRUG ABUSE-PUBLIC HEALTH IMPACT PART II & MYTHS AND FACTS ABOUT EATING AND DIABETES MELLITUS
TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3676 DATED 2017-11-16

Substance / Drug Abuse- Public Health Impact

(Part II)

What are the medical consequences of Drug Abuse

Individuals who suffer from addiction often have one or more accompanying medical issues, including lung and cardiovascular disease, stroke, cancer, and mental disorders. Imaging scans, chest X-rays, and blood tests show the damaging effects of drug abuse throughout the body.

Does drug abuse cause mental/ psychiatric disorders or vice versa?

Drug abuse and mental disorders often co-exist. In some cases, mental diseases may precede addiction; in other cases, drug abuse may trigger or exacerbate mental disorders, particularly in individuals with specific vulnerabilities.

How can addiction harm other people? Yes, it causes serious public health concerns.

Beyond the harmful consequences for the addicted individual, drug abuse can cause serious health problems for others. Four of the more devastating and troubling public health consequences of addiction are:

- Negative effects of prenatal (during pregnancy) drug exposure on infants and children.
It is likely that some drug-exposed children will need educational support in the classroom to help them overcome what may be subtle deficits in developmental areas such as behavior, attention, and cognition
- Negative effects of second-hand smoke.
Second-hand tobacco smoke, also referred to as environmental tobacco smoke (ETS), is a significant source of exposure to a large number of substances known to be hazardous to human health, particularly to children. According to the Surgeon General's 2006 Report, The Health Consequences of Involuntary Exposure to Tobacco Smoke, involuntary smoking increases the risk of heart disease and lung cancer in never-smokers by 25-30 percent and 20-30 percent, respectively.
- Increased spread of infectious diseases.
Injection drug use is not the only way that drug abuse contributes to the spread of infectious diseases. All drugs of abuse cause some form of intoxication, which interferes with judgment and increases the likelihood of risky sexual behaviors. This, in turn, contributes to the spread of HIV/AIDS, hepatitis B and C, and other sexually transmitted infections (STI).
- Occupational and driving accidents
This leads to ill health and deaths.

Tobacco use is responsible for an estimated 5 million deaths worldwide each year.

What are some effects of specific abused substances?

- Nicotine is an addictive stimulant found in cigarettes and other forms of tobacco. Tobacco smoke increases a user's risk of cancer, emphysema, bronchial disorders(looks like asthma), and cardiovascular disease. (see diagram below)
- Alcohol consumption can damage the brain and most body organs. Areas of the brain that are especially vulnerable to alcohol-related damage are the cerebral cortex (largely responsible for our higher brain functions, including problem solving and decision making), the hippocampus (important for memory and learning), and the cerebellum (important for movement coordination and balance).

APPENDIX 'D' (CONT'D) TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3676 DATED 2017-11-16

- Marijuana/ Ganja/ Weed is the most commonly abused illegal substance. This drug impairs short-term memory and learning, the ability to focus attention, and coordination(impairs educational achievement). It also increases heart rate, can harm the lungs, and can increase the risk of psychosis in those with an underlying vulnerability such as children, adolescent and those with mental illness.
- Inhalants are volatile substances found in many household products, such as oven cleaners, nail polish remover, glue, gasoline, spray paints, and other aerosols, that induce mind-altering effects. Inhalants are extremely toxic and can damage the heart, kidneys, lungs, and brain. Even a healthy person can suffer heart failure and death within minutes of a single session of prolonged sniffing of an inhalant.
- Cocaine (Crack) is a short-acting stimulant, which can lead abusers to "binge" (to take the drug many times in a single session). Cocaine/ crack abuse can lead to severe medical consequences related to the heart and the respiratory, nervous, and digestive systems.
- Heroin is a powerful opiate drug that produces euphoria and feelings of relaxation. It slows respiration and its use is linked to an increased risk of serious infectious diseases, especially when taken intravenously. Other opioid drugs include morphine, OxyContin, Vicodin, and Percodan, which have legitimate (prescription medications) medical uses; however, their nonmedical use or abuse can result in the same harmful consequences as abusing heroin.
- Other Prescription medications are increasingly being abused or used for nonmedical purposes. This practice cannot only be addictive, but in some cases also lethal. Commonly abused classes of prescription drugs include painkillers, sedatives(e.g. Valium, Xanax) and stimulants
- Steroids, which can also be prescribed for certain medical conditions, are abused to increase muscle mass and to improve athletic performance or physical appearance. Serious consequences of abuse can include severe acne, heart disease, liver problems, stroke, infectious diseases, depression, and suicide.

If you or someone you know is displaying problematic substance/ drug use, help can be obtained from professional counselors who can facilitate you regaining voluntary control over your behaviour. Such treatment provided at Medical Services Branch located at National Police College of Jamaica or call National Council on Drug Abuse at 926-9002-4

Myths and Facts about Eating and Diabetes Mellitus

On November 14 World Diabetes Day was celebrated. The focus this year is on early detection of diabetes and prevention of complications. In this article the focus will be on how to eat right in the management of diabetes.

Have you heard that eating too much sugar causes diabetes? Or maybe someone told you that you have to give up all your favorite foods when you're on a diabetic diet? Well, those things aren't true. In fact, there are plenty of myths about dieting and food. Use this guide to separate fact from fiction/ myth.

Myth: 1. Eating Too Much Sugar Causes Diabetes.

Fact: The truth is that diabetes begins when something causes your body to produce little or no insulin or does not respond to insulin. Insulin is needed to allow the body to make use of the glucose/ sugar from the food you eat.

Myth: 2. There Are Too Many Rules in a Diabetes Diet.

Fact: If you have diabetes, you need to plan your meals, but the general idea is simple. You'll want to keep your blood sugar levels as close to normal as possible. Choose foods that work along with your activities and any medications you take.

Will you need to make adjustments to what you eat? Probably. But your new way of eating may not require as many changes as you think.

Myth: 3. Carbohydrates Are Bad for Diabetes.

Fact: Carbs/ Carbohydrates are the foundation of a healthy diet whether you have diabetes or not.

They do affect your blood sugar levels, which is why you'll need to keep up with how many you eat each day. Some carbs have vitamins, minerals, and fiber. So choose those ones, such as whole grains, fruits, and vegetables. Starchy, sugary carbs are not a great choice because they have less to offer. They're more likely to give a sudden raise in blood sugar level than provide fuel that can sustain your body.

Myth: 4. Protein Is Better Than Carbohydrates for Diabetes.

Fact: Because carbs affect blood sugar levels so quickly, you may be tempted to eat less of them and substitute more protein. But take care to choose your protein carefully. If it comes with too much saturated fat, that's risky for your heart's health. Keep an eye on your portion size too. Talk to your nutritionist or doctor about how much protein is right for you.

Myth: 5. You Can Adjust Your Diabetes Drugs to 'Cover' Whatever You Eat.

Fact: If you use insulin for your diabetes, you may learn how to adjust the amount and type you take to match the amount of food you eat. But this doesn't mean you can eat as much as you want and then just use additional drugs to stabilize your blood sugar level.

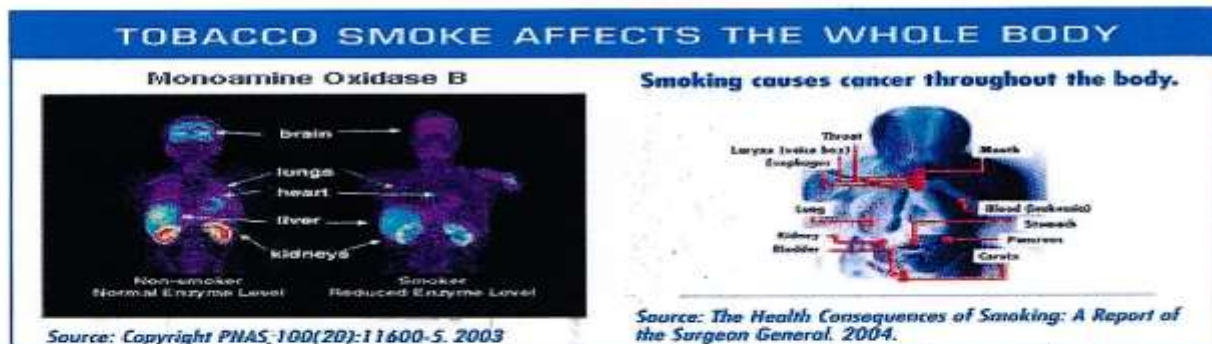

If you use other types of diabetes drugs, don't try to adjust your dose to match varying levels of carbohydrates in your meals unless your doctor tells you to. Most diabetic medications work best when you take them as directed. When in doubt, ask your doctor or pharmacist.

Myth: 6. You'll need to give up Your Favorite Foods.

Fact: There's no reason to stop eating what you love. Instead, try:

- A change in the way your favorite foods are prepared. Can you bake it instead of deep-frying it?
- A change in the other foods you usually eat along with your favorites. Maybe have a sweet potato instead of mashed potatoes?

ESPRIT DE CORPS

Six Simple Ways To Make Self-Love Your Number One Priority

Self-love is one of the most easily and frequently preached concepts, but the most challenging of all feats. In one minute, you can be in love with yourself and, the next, find something you absolutely despise about yourself. Before you know it, you fall into an endless pit of self-destructive thoughts.

Some of the bubbliest and most optimistic people have climbed up mountains of self-loathing and drowned in an ocean of unworthiness. It is a constant battle, one that will be an ongoing theme in our lives. What will create a shift is being aware, and making YOU a priority in your life.

The journey of self-love is one which begins with asking yourself soul-enriching questions and listening to yourself in moments of despair. Then, you will realize these thoughts stem from feeling like you are not good enough or you do not equate to one worthy of being loved.

It's an ugly place, but one that forces you to realize the only love that can set you free is that from within. It is so easy to forget, in this world inundated with negativity and images of hate that love is from the source. We were already given enough love to grow and survive in this world, but somewhere along the line, we lost sight of it. Here's the thing: You are whole and complete, just the way you are. We don't get to choose what we're given, but we get to choose how to use what we're given, and to honor and value ourselves.

We need to first accept and embrace ourselves in our entirety, and then cultivate the love that is within.

Here's how we can take steps in making self-love a priority in our lives:

1. Breathe

When Zen Monk Thich Nhat Hanh was asked the question, "How do I love myself?" his response was, "Breathe." This is a light bulb moment for some people to realize the times they were least happy was the times they were living on autopilot. We go about our day sitting in front of a computer screen or doing menial tasks, and we forget to nourish ourselves with deep breaths and positive thoughts.

2. Thank Your Body

Our bodies are full of wonder, and today, you are to be grateful that your body is giving you everything you need to be able to live. It can be very difficult for some of us to make taking care of our bodies a priority. Most people put their body through abuse and neglect by working crazy hours, not eating properly nor exercising. Sometimes a person has to hit rock-bottom situation for them to wake up and finally take action in bringing themselves back to a healthier state. Start by thinking about what you choose to put into your body, and how often you rejuvenate it with exercise.

3. Change Your Thoughts

Your thoughts and your mindset are the most difficult to alter, and it often requires a lot of unlearning to come to a place of pure consciousness and peace with who you are. Seek to rediscover what you love about yourself, and what you have done to be of service to others and make an impact on their lives.

4. Make Better Decisions

Having awareness brings you to a better place for making decisions that serve you. What you have is a direct reflection of what you think you're worth. If you're in a toxic relationship, it's because you think all you deserve is to be treated poorly. If you're in a job you don't enjoy, it's because you believe it is all you can achieve, and you're settling. So, what choices have you made today?

5. Do What You Love

When you think about happiness, you think about having a moment to read, write or dance. When you don't get to live out your true creative expression, you feel unhappy and purposeless.

APPENDIX 'E' (CONT'D) TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3676 DATED 2017-11-16

The soul is nourished when you surrender yourself to your innermost expression, and no longer resist what is natural to you.

6. Be Kind to Yourself and to Others

Going forward, make it your mission to release any guilt or anxiety you feel during your day. It is always going to be there, but you choose to be present in your thoughts and remember all is well.

Then, you think of ways you can be of service to others, even if it is something as simple as telling a friend how you appreciate their words of encouragement, continued support and how grateful you are for their friendship and being your confidant.

Finally, think of ways to make your time here of meaning to others, so you can value your presence here today and know you serve a purpose in this infinite universe.

As the storm raged, the captain realized that his ship was sinking fast.
He called out, "Anyone here knows how to pray?"
One man stepped forward. "Aye, Captain, I know how to pray."
"Good," said the Captain "You pray while the rest of us put on our life jackets – we are one short"
