REMINDER - HUMAN RIGHTS AND POLICE USE OF FORCE AND FIREARM POLICY
(EXCERPTS) (CONT'D)

Obligation to Protect Others

23. If members of the JCF do not take appropriate and proportionate action to protect others from harm they may be violating human rights and be in breach of their duty as a police officer.
24. In making these important and often timely decisions, members of the JCF are reminded that they are accountable through the law for their actions. Apart from the criminal law, there may follow a civil suit, complaints may be made against individual officers and, in cases where death has resulted, a public inquest or other inquiry will be held by the Coroner.

Obedience to the Orders

25. Obedience to the orders of a supervisor shall be no defence if a police officer knew that the order to use force was unlawful and had a reasonable opportunity to refuse to obey it.
26. Responsibility will also rest with the supervisor who gave the unlawful order.

Personal Responsibility

27. The primary responsibility for using force rests with the individual officer, who is accountable ultimately to the law and also to the Commissioner of Police.
28. Individual officers are accountable and responsible for whatever force they use and must be in a position to justify their actions in light of their legal responsibilities and powers.
29. Any police officer who has reason to believe that improper force has been used or is about to be used by another police officer, shall, to the best of his/her ability, prevent and rigorously oppose any such use of force. This officer shall, at the earliest opportunity, report the matter to his/her supervisor and, where necessary, to other appropriate authorities vested with responsibility for investigating such matters.
30. Supervisory members will be held responsible if they know, or should have known, through the proper discharge of their duties, that officers under their command are resorting, or have resorted to the unlawful use of force, and they did not take all measures in their power to prevent, suppress or report such use.

Medical Assistance

31. Medical assistance will be obtained for any person(s) who has sustained visible injury, expressed a complaint of pain, or who has been rendered unconscious.

Records and Reports

32. Members of the JCF will verbally report any use of force to their immediate supervisors as soon as practicable. Any use of physical force by a member must be documented completely and accurately in an appropriate report, depending on the nature of the incident.
33. Notification to a supervisor will be made as soon as practicable following the application of physical force, under any of the following circumstances:
 - where the application of force appears to have caused physical injury;

APPENDIX 'B' JAMAICA CONSTABULARY FORCE POLICY ON DIVERSITY TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3711 DATED 2018-07-19

POLICY STATEMENT

The Jamaica Constabulary Force believes that all citizens of Jamaica and visitors to its shores have a right to be treated with dignity and respect, irrespective of who they are or the particular grouping to which they belong. Through the Jamaica Constabulary Force Policy on Diversity, the organization will strive to ensure fair treatment of all in our service delivery. It is the policy of the Jamaica Constabulary Force that all reports from any individual or group be handled in a manner which reflect the highest level of professionalism and respect for human rights and dignity. This should be done with a view to portraying a professional image of the police and enhancing positive relationship between the wider community and the police service.

The Standard Operating Procedures for police interaction with individuals or members of all diverse groups are adopted as a set of practical guide to minimum standards to be adhered to by all members of the JCF and Rural Police. Any departure from these procedures will be viewed as a breach of discipline.

PURPOSE

The purpose of this policy is to provide overall direction to members of the Police Force in relation to the handling of issues brought to their attention by any individual or group from diverse communities. The aim of the policy is to effectively transform the negative aspects of police culture manifested in the scant regards paid to reports made by members of diverse groups, as it relates to incidence of crimes committed against them.

OBJECTIVES

The objectives of this policy are to:

- improve public confidence by demonstrating fairness, integrity, tolerance and understanding in dealing with all sections of the community;
- show commitment, value and support to every individual by seeking to eliminate all forms of harassment and discrimination;
- develop a workforce which empathizes with the community it serves;
- provide necessary support and referral to victims of crime and violence, regardless of individual or group differences of the complainant;
- reduce the fear of individuals from diverse groups of reporting crime and violence;
- ensure the provision of high quality, professional policing services to all members of the public;
- ensure that police officers remain informed about emerging diversity issues affecting communities;
- ensure that all individuals have access to the full range of available policing services and other referrals; and
- decrease the number of complaints against the police regarding unprofessional conduct.

SCOPE

This policy affects all sworn and unsworn members of the Jamaica Constabulary Force and Rural Police. It encompasses all victims of crime, accused, witnesses or any concerned citizen who come in contact with the police, irrespective of individuality or grouping. It also extends to the general community since the JCF has a role to educate the community about prejudice-related violence as part of its crime prevention and reduction strategy.

DEFINITIONS

Diversity: This is a concept that recognizes individuals and groups from a broad spectrum of demographic and philosophical differences. It includes the acceptance of persons without prejudice and discrimination, irrespective of their religion, ethnicity, sexual orientation, class, colour, creed or political ideology.

Top of Page Back to Contents

Diverse Communities: Conceptually, diverse communities are made up of groups of persons of various ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation, class, colour, political ideology, physical or mental challenges and any other feature that adds variety to mainstream society.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

It is the duty of all members of the police force to adhere to the policy on diversity, which aims to eliminate all forms of discrimination and inequitable treatment towards all members of the public.

All officers and sub-officers must ensure that members under their supervision are made aware of the provisions of this policy. They should ensure that individuals who fail to comply with this policy and other related rules and regulations of the organization are disciplined.

OPERATING PROTOCOL

The following operating protocols are to be strictly adhered to as soon as it is established that any individual or group was victimized because of their religion, ethnicity, sexual orientation, class, colour, creed or political ideology.

1. If the initial report is made at a police station, a sub-officer must be informed immediately. The sub-officer will cause the full report and statement(s) to be collected in private and a report along with the case file forwarded to the divisional commander.
2. The divisional commander will cause the file to be assigned for full investigation. The investigator will ensure the privacy and security of the victim and try to bring an early closure to the investigation.
3. The investigator will update the victim as to the progress of the investigation on a timely basis.
4. In cases where the initial report is made to members working on the street, the matter must be immediately brought to the attention of the supervisor by secure communication. The supervisor will ensure the safety and security of the victim while he or she is being taken to the station for the report to be taken in privacy.
5. The same protocol at (1) to (3) will be followed until the conclusion of the case.
6. At no time should public statements be made or information divulged to the media about the case under investigation, without the approval of the divisional commander.
7. Members will treat cases of diversity with alacrity, professionalism, sensitivity and dignity.
8. In cases where complaints are about members of the police force who refuse to take reports, or treat the complainant in a disrespectful manner, or are tardy in the investigation of matters, the sub-officer in charge of the station will report such matters to the divisional commander who will cause the necessary disciplinary action to be taken and the cases reassigned for investigation.
9. The divisional commanders will cause a record to be made for statistical purposes of all diversity cases reported, the nature of the reports and the outcome of investigations. This data is to be forwarded to the Statistics Unit on a monthly basis.

APPENDIX 'C' MEDICAL ARTICLE - "DIABETES MELLITUS - BEATING DIABETES"
TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3711 DATED 2018-07-19

Diabetes Mellitus- "Beating Diabetes"

What is Diabetes mellitus?

Diabetes mellitus literally means sweet urine; the term diabetes has Greek and Latin origins meaning "to pass through," referring to the excess urine these patients produced and mellitus is Latin for sweet or honeyed. This was coined after scientists noted the sweet taste and the copious urination of diabetics. Diabetes mellitus is what most Jamaicans call "Sugar". It is caused by a complete lack or low levels of a hormone called Insulin. This condition is characterized by a high blood glucose level. Diabetes affected approximately 422 million persons globally in 2014 and the trend reflects annual growth of that figure.

What is Insulin?

This is the hormone produced by an organ in the abdomen called the Pancreas. Insulin is the major storage hormone of the body. After a meal, Insulin is produced to move the excess sugar, proteins and fats from the blood, into the liver, muscles and fat cells for storage. In Diabetes mellitus there is a low level of insulin or a complete lack of the hormone. This deficiency causes the blood sugar levels to be higher than normal. Oftentimes, when a person's diabetes is severe or if they have type 1 Diabetes, persons are given synthetic Insulin by injections as a replacement treatment.

What are the types of Diabetes Mellitus?

- The types of Diabetes mellitus are Type 1 and Type 2.

Type 1 Diabetes Mellitus

In type 1 Diabetes mellitus, there is a complete absence of insulin. This type of diabetes is usually diagnosed in teenage or early adult years. It is caused when the body attacks itself (autoimmune) and destroys the insulin producing cells in the pancreas. It is also called Insulin Dependent Diabetes since these persons depend on insulin therapy to survive.

Type 2 Diabetes mellitus

What is type 2 Diabetes mellitus?

This is the most common type of diabetes affecting adults. It is also called "adult onset diabetes". It is characterized by a deficiency (low levels) of insulin or resistance to insulin function. It is usually associated with certain lifestyle factors such as obesity and lack of physical activities.

What are the symptoms of Diabetes?

There are not always clear symptoms, but if present common ones include:

- Excessive thirst, excessive hunger, excessive urination, weight loss, itching, slow healing cuts, weakness, erectile dysfunction (ED) and blurry vision.

What are the factors that increase my risk of Diabetes?

- Genetic (Having family history of diabetes)
- Gestation Diabetes (having diabetes in a prior pregnancy)
- Obesity
- Physical Inactivity
- Polycystic Ovarian Syndrome (A condition with cysts in the ovaries of females that cause irregular menses, excessive facial hair, and insulin resistance)
- Being of African Descent or Indian
- Drugs (eg. Long term steroid use)

APPENDIX 'C' (CONT'D) TO FORCE ORDERS NO. 3711 DATED 2018-07-19

How is Diabetes Diagnosed?

Diabetes may be identified based on symptoms reported at the doctor's visit, but at times it is detected by coincidence after a routine urine or blood test in an asymptomatic (symptom free) patient. The confirmatory diagnostic test for Diabetes is a fasting blood glucose test, where the person fasts (no meals) for 8-12 hours prior to the test. After the fasting blood test sample is taken, the patient is usually instructed to drink a sweet solution, and another blood sample is drawn two (2) hours after consumption and the glucose level measured. This second test is called a two-hour post prandial test (2hrPP).

This 2hrPP test monitors the blood sugar to check if there is a return to normal glucose levels after a meal. A return to normal range blood sugars after a meal signifies insulin is functioning normally. Diabetes is diagnosed if the fasting blood glucose (FBG) is greater than or equal to 7 mmol/L (same as 126 mg/dL in American units) or if the 2hrPP is greater than or equal to 11.1mmol/L (same as 200 mg/dL in American units).

How does Diabetes affect the body?

Diabetes can affect all tissues of the body.

- Brain – Dementia, strokes, memory impairment
 - Heart- Heart failure, heart attacks, poor circulation
 - Eyes- Diabetic retinopathy (retina-tissue back of eye that allows vision), cataracts
 - Nerves- diabetic neuropathy- damages nerves to hands and feet, penis, stomach
- Increased Cancer risk - prostate, endometrial (womb), colon, liver, pancreatic and breast.*

Does this mean I must have these effects if I have Diabetes?

No, if Diabetes is properly controlled, the risk of these diabetic complications is low.

How is Diabetes treated?

Treatment includes diet modification and exercise. Medications are usually required to control most diabetics. For most patients, medications alone without dietary modifications are not effective. Medications can either be injectable (insulin) or oral tablets depending on the severity and type of diabetes.

How should I change my diet?

Avoid processed carbohydrates and sweet foods. Eat more complex carbohydrates such as brown rice, whole grain, ground provisions. Avoid excess fast foods and foods with a high glycemic index that will spike the blood glucose as the body rapidly breaks such foods down. Foods with a low glycemic index are slowly broken down by the body, and do not spike the glucose levels. Consume healthy fats and plenty vegetables. Of significance Diabetics should be careful with excessive amounts of sweet fruits like mangoes and pineapples as these too can elevate the blood sugar levels. As always the key word with diet is MODERATION.

How can one monitor their diabetes?

Persons can obtain a machine that checks their blood sugars called a Glucometer. Also one can have their diabetes checked regularly at their clinic or doctor's office. Importantly, persons with diabetes should do a blood tests every 3-6 months called the A1C test. This test reflects the average blood sugar control over the last three (3) months of a patient. The office GMR (glucose meter reading) only tells us what the blood sugar level is now.

What are target blood glucose levels for Diabetics?

- A1C level- less than 7%
- Fasting sugar- less than 7mmol/L (126mg/dL)
- 2-hour post meal sugar-less than 8.5mmol/L (126mg/dL)

Help me understand the GMR machine (glucometer), why are my numbers much more than the numbers at the clinic?

Some GMR machines are American models that tend to use units of mg/dL. British machines tend to use units mmol/L. Most machines used at health centres and doctors' offices tend to use British units. To convert from American units (mg/dL) to British units (mmol/L) one can divide by 18.

What is my standard medical management as a Diabetic?

- Regular doctor follow up
- Daily foot checks for cuts including between toes.
- Avoid walking without foot protection
- Heart test (ECG-electrocardiogram) at least once per year
- A1C test at least every 3-6 months
- Cholesterol levels, kidney function tests, liver function tests, blood count and urine test (executive profile) at least once per year.
- Eye specialist eye exam at least once per year.
- Doctors foot exam every regular visit.
- Age appropriate cancer screening tests as recommended (pap smears, mammogram, prostate tests, colon cancer tests)

To have your diabetes controlled or monitored using a multidisciplinary approach. Feel free to contact the Medical Services Branch at 1876-749-0470/749-5268 or Ext. 69103/69107.

Mr. McArthur Sutherland
Head of the Criminal Investigation Branch
Jamaica Constabulary Force

Dear Sir,

The United States Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) Kingston Country Office would like to formally bring to your attention and congratulate Corporal Anthony Cross and Constable Sidric Vickers of the Narcotics Division on a remarkable accomplishment. Corporal Cross and Constable Vickers successfully completed a course at the Oklahoma Bureau of Narcotics, U.S. DEA "NARC" Air Assault School, held from April 9th to the 20th, 2018. The course was intensive in nature and participants were assessed and required to be in good physical condition to ensure successful completion of the course which is quite grueling. The participants were required to participate in a confidence course at the beginning of the training. The course comprised of eight obstacles, two of which required mandatory negotiations to assess the student's ability to work at great heights, their agility and importantly, their upper body strength.

The training was both mentally and physically demanding and there were many times where Corporal Cross and Constable Vickers could have easily and understandably given up, especially since components of the training took place in diverse conditions to include, hot, humid, rainy, and below freezing temperatures, but nevertheless, they persevered. Additionally, Corporal Cross and Constable Vickers capped off their training by achieving first time successes in all aspects of their training challenges to include the helicopter air assault rappelling phase. Corporal Cross and Constable Vickers hard work and dedication reflected greatly upon themselves, the Jamaica Constabulary Force and their country Jamaica.

In view of their achievement, the DEA wishes to offer formal commendations on their effort and performance in representing their country and recommends that this recognition be a part of their personal file.

Sincerely,

Robert Baseoe
Assistant Country Attache
