Code of Conduct for classes/Online

Participants are expected to observe the following for online classes:

Attendance and Punctuality

It is expected that each participant attends all virtual activities. As such, each Participant should seek to maintain an attendance rate of 95% for each synchronous session and asynchronous activity of a course or programme. That means, each participant should be present except in cases where an excuse pertaining to a case being in the courts, exigence of duties, or medical and psychological issues is given. A request for an absence should be made to the respective Course coordinator before synchronous sessions and if asynchronous tasks are to be affected, the respective trainer/facilitator should be notified and approval given for completion at a later date. Similar to the attendance rate, each trainee/participant should seek to be early for each virtual activity (asynchronous and synchronous). In order to ensure that he or she is early, a participant should log in at least thirty (30) minutes prior to the start of each session and fifteen minutes for face-to-face classes.

- Select an appropriate background/space from which to operate –one that is uncluttered, free from noise and other distractions.

- Participant must wear clothing that is appropriate for the virtual classroom as well as face to face classroom sessions - polo shirts, Blouses, t-shirts. Avoid hats, shirts with offensive logos and messages, sleep wear, spaghetti straps etc. NB. Where applicable working dress or denim uniform is required for members based on the course being attended. Specifications will be made in accordance with the programme being studied.

Deportment

It is expected that the conduct of all participants will be governed by integrity, honesty, truth and the perpetual pursuit of excellence. He or she should demonstrate care and concern for everyone within the virtual space and show the highest levels of regard for self and others.

Grooming

As law enforcement personnel, it is important to demonstrate proper grooming as it relates to the Jamaica Constabulary Force Rules and Regulations (Book of Rules, p. 47-72 & Force Orders 3306 and 3307).

Speech

It is also expected that trainees/participants will always seek to expand both his and her spoken and written vocabulary as he or she conveys precision in sharing ideas. In addition, trainees/participants should endeavour to deploy his speech in contending for good rather than in defence of evil. In so doing, the JCF Public Interaction Policy should be used during question and answering, presentations and all other speaking activities so as to demonstrate regard for both external and internal customers.

THE LEARNING MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

The NPCJ uses the MOODLE Learning Management System – E-campus. This system offers internal delivery of courses and programmes affiliated with the JCF. This LMS is monitored and administrated internally by the NPCJ's Information and Technology Department. Courses are uploaded for course/programme coordinators and the necessary training is coordinated and completed by its representatives.

TRAINING AND INTERNAL ASSESSMENT PROCESSES

Policy

Assessments are designed to contribute to high quality participant learning and underpin the development, delivery and quality assurance of courses. The assessment procedures are communicated to participants in the Participant's Handbook which can be accessed on the Institution's website, in participant's welcome package and in orientation sessions for all programmes and courses. These orientation sessions are held face-to face or online. For quality assurance, participants are required to complete and sign the orientation checklist/receipt, in keeping with the standards required for training. During training there are internal assessment processes which are intended to help participants learn (assessment for learning) and measure explicit evidence of their learning (assessment of learning).

Training is always geared towards the professionalization of police officers within their vocational contexts. All systems and procedures are implemented to ensure the integrity and equity of the training and internal assessment. The following standards are integral to the assessment processes:

1. Criterion- referenced and standard- based, provides evidence of the level of achievement with respect to learning outcomes and participants attributes;
2. Transparent processes carried out with honesty, integrity and confidentiality in line with the mission of the Institution;
3. Andragogic informed learning and training;
4. Comprise a variety of tasks which are reasonably achievable by participants; and
5. Assessment that is fair, inclusive and equitable for all participants.

Purpose

The figure above sets out the principles that underpin DDT's approach to assessment. This is incumbent on the DDT as the entity charged with the training and development of drivers.

The DDT makes every effort to put in place effective procedures for the following:

- a. Designing, approving, monitoring and reviewing the assessment strategies for programmes and courses;
- b. Implementing rigorous assessment policies and practices that ensure the - standard for each course element is set and maintained at the appropriate level, and that participant performance is properly judged against this;

- c. Evaluating how training standards are maintained through assessment practice, which also serves to encourage effective learning.

Standard Operating Procedures (SOP)

Assessment is an essential component of the DDT's training process, therefore:

1. Assessment practices are designed to promote engagement, support learning and judge levels of performance.
2. Assessment tasks are aligned with the objectives and the teaching and learning arrangements of the course.
3. Assessment design provides participants with the stimulus to learn and apply their developing skill and knowledge in new situations. It also challenges and alters participant's ways of thinking and doing.
4. All assessment models have limitations.
5. A variety of assessment techniques are used within a course.
6. Assessments are used for both formative and summative assessment purposes.
7. Staff and participants are required to engage in the assessment process with the utmost ethical academic conduct.

DDT strives to maintain completed documents (course outline, assessment schedules, course materials- presentations, rubrics, etc. and course reports) for each course and provide copies of these to the Academic Dean for review and approval when requested.

Assessment evidence is judged according to the principles of:

- Currency- Tasks/activities prove that the participant is competent or not yet competent;
- Validity -Tasks /activities are driven by the performance criteria and the competency/standards being addressed; and
- Authenticity - knowledge/skills/attitude of the participants are shaped in real-life vocational/workplace settings.

Failure of Examination

If a participant fails an exam, a re-sit is offered for that/those specific cluster(s): only one re-sit per cluster is allowed.

NB: Participants who fail the re-sit must exit the course and, if desired, re-apply after 3 months.

Grade Criteria

The DDT's pass mark for clusters is 60 percent. Achievement of a pass in all individual assessment tasks, course or programme is a prerequisite for passing the course or programme. In such cases the requirement to pass specific assessments is clearly stated in the Course Outlines. This requirement is also addressed in orientation sessions.

Attendance and Participation Requirements

Marks are not awarded for attendance. However, participants must attend a minimum of 90 percent of classes: failure to do so the participant will be removed from the course by the Academic Dean or the Commanding Officer and be encouraged to reapply when they are able to fully focus on the course.

7. If the CDI believes that the grade is in keeping with the participant's performance and will not therefore recommend a change in grade, this will be communicated to the participant during the 'Go-Through' exercise.
8. If the participant is not satisfied with the CDI's decision they may apply for a Remark using the said form (see appendix Q).
9. The request must be addressed to the Academic Dean who will decide and respond to the participant within 5 working days.
10. If the Remark is approved The Academic Dean will convene a meeting with the CDI and the affected instructors to review the examination script.
11. The outcome of the meeting will be conveyed to the participant via the Secretariat and the changes, if necessary, will be made.

N.B. If the participant asks for a Go-Through and is not satisfied after the exercise they can request Remark and vice versa. However, each exercise can only be requested once.

COMMUNICATION OF INFORMATION ON TRAINING AND INTERNAL ASSESSMENT

At the beginning of the training, participants are informed about the training and internal assessment requirements. For additional information, the participants may consult the Participant's Handbook, the CDI, Secretariat or the Academic Dean. This is also communicated by the Instructors to the participants during the daily briefing and debriefing sessions. Contents of what was discussed during these sessions are recorded in the Station Diary.

FEEDBACK TO CLIENTS ON THE OUTCOMES OF ASSESSMENT

Feedback is one of the most important aspects of the learning process. It enables participants to make timely and informed judgements about their performance, so that subsequent assessment can be undertaken with improved likelihood of success. Feedback is provided in a variety of ways, including:

- a. Comments via emails and zoom classes
- b. Daily written comments from Instructor
- c. Oral discussions before and after assessments
- d. Examination Grades displayed in their individual Progress Booklet.

COMMUNICATION OF ASSESSMENT PROCESS PRIOR TO COMMENCEMENT OF FINAL ASSESSMENT

Policy

Prior to the start of final exams, the Department makes sure that measures are in place to inform participants about the evaluation process. The school strives to always have participants who are prepared for all of their exams. All participants receive regular reminders from the instructors about the dates of assessments. They are first informed of this during the orientation sessions.

Purpose

To educate participants on evaluation procedures and the various forms of evaluation that may be used.

Standard Operating Procedures

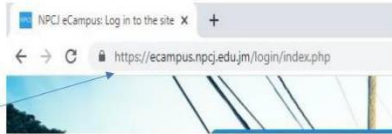

1. During orientation, the Chief Driving Instructor or the Course Coordinator will inform participants about the assessment process;
2. The guidelines for the assessment will be made clear to the participants during the orientation.
3. The guidelines for the assessment will be made clear to the participants during the training daily sessions by the instructors.
4. The Participant's Handbook will contain details on the assessment procedure.

1. Assessment is a means by which progress or achievement in a unit is evaluated. This can include assessment methods such as examinations and practical tasks.
2. Reassessment means participants are required to repeat or redo their assessments.
3. Reassessments are not offered immediately, EXCEPT upon the discretion of the assessor in consultation with the course coordinator or chief driving instructor.
4. Participants are reminded that all assessment sheets must be signed at the end of each day.
5. Failing the course means being assessed as “Not Yet Competent” for a completed programme.
6. Students are given an opportunity to be reassessed if they have undertaken the given assessments and met the assessment requirements of respective units of competency.
7. If a participant has not attended sufficient classes for the programme, the participant must redo the programme in a subsequent Cohort. However, management may decide otherwise base

NB. Minimum for passing is 60% in both theory and practical.

Tier System

There are several methods of assessments used to evaluate our participants; one method used is the tiering system. The practical phase of the course begins with the participants undergoing three days of training assessments where they are then placed in one of the three tiers based on competency displayed. The tiers are as follow:

Tier One

Drivers who demonstrate a high level of competence with Driver's license over 2 years. Participants in this tier MUST acquire between 85% and 100% in their assessment.

Tier Two

Drivers who demonstrate an acceptable level of competence with Driver's License less than 2 years. Participants in this tier MUST acquire between 70% and 84% in the assessment.

Tier Three

Drivers who demonstrate an average level of driving being the holder of a valid Jamaican Driver's License. Participants in this tier MUST acquire between 60% and 69% in their assessment.

Theory

Clusters

The Online course is divided into five (5) clusters with each having a final exam that candidates MUST pass. The fifth week of the course is reserved for First-Aid theoretical lectures. This component has two (2) clusters and has one (1) final exam at the end of the one (1) week theoretical course that evaluates all that was presented in the theoretical aspect of the course. After participants gain access to the e-campus learning platform, no electronic devices should be used to capture information for future use as this would be a breach of the Jamaica copyright Act of 1993.

Access to learning materials:

All educational materials required for the successful completion of courses offered by the Department of Diver Training will be made available to participants for the duration of their tenure at the Department.

Online Access:

After completing the theoretical aspect of the course, Participant will no longer have access to educational materials.

The theoretical aspect of the training is self-paced, asynchronous learning, which consists of six (6) clusters and will be covered over four (4) weeks. Participants will undergo an exam at the end of each cluster designed according to the course content of the cluster completed, aimed at developing high-quality participant learning and underpinning the development of the knowledge learned. The exam will consist of multiple-choice questions, with a time limit that varies depending on the number of questions in the exam. Successful participants who score a grade of 60% and above will achieve passing grade for the course. Participants who complete all six clusters and the first aid component of the course will matriculate to the practical phase. The fifth week of the course is reserved for first-aid theoretical lectures. This component has two (2) clusters and has one (1) final exam at the end of the one (1)-week theoretical course that evaluates all that was presented in the theoretical aspect of the course.

Final examination

At the end of the study of each cluster, a final exam will be given on all the information learned, during which participants will be required to pass each cluster before moving on to the subsequent cluster and finally the practical aspect of the training. NB. Participant are required to score a minimum of 60% in all cluster exams to successfully matriculate into the practical training.

Failure of Online Examination

- If a Participant fails a cluster exam, he/she will still have access to complete the succeeding clusters. Note: Failure of a cluster exam will result in Participant not meeting the minimum matriculation requirement to move on to the practical phase of the training.

Resit Theory

A resit will only be made available if there is space in a subsequent Online course. Note Participants will only have to retake the cluster exam they failed.

- If the candidate is still unsuccessful, he or she will be asked to seek outside tutoring or tutoring from an available lecturer/instructor and re-apply after 3 months.

Practical Training

Training is conducted on a shift system with two teams: 6:30am to 2:30pm and 2:30pm to 10:30pm respectively. Each team is headed by a course coordinator who has operational and administrative responsibilities for their team.

Tiering Automobile

Participants will be assessed for the first three days and then placed in one of three tiers based on performance:

- (a) Tier 1 is for participants who scores 85% and over.
- (b) Tier 2 is for participants who scores 70% - 84%
- (c) Tier 3 is for participants who scores 60% – 69%

Tiering Motorcycle

Participants will be assessed for the first five days and then placed in one of two tiers based on performance:

- Tier 1 is for participants who scores 70% and over
- Tier 2 is for participants who scores 60-69% and over

Phase One (General Training)

The General Training is conducted over the following conditions:

- a. Urban Driving
- b. Rural Driving
- c. Manoeuvres/Slaloms

Phase Two (Emergency Response Training (E.R.T))

(E.R.T) applies to Automobile Qualifying and Quick Response Training only. NB. For JCF members only.

The final aspect of the training is the Emergency Response Training (ERT). This training involves developing the learner's abilities and capabilities to manoeuvre the motor vehicle quickly, tactically, defensively and safely while utilizing the siren.

Practical Assessment

- The instructor who conducts the Tiering Assessment will not be the one who trains the candidate.
- The team that does the training is not the same team that conducts the final assessment. The participant will be assessed on their ability to maneuver the motor vehicle in a progressive, safe, and sustainable manner while utilizing the skill of defensive driving. Learners will be required to navigate smoothly and effectively through a maneuverability course without touching any cones.

Failure (Practical)

If a candidate fails, they will not be allowed to continue the course and will be recommended to seek private tutoring and return in three (3) months after notifying the Department of Driver Training of their readiness. Only the practical training they will continue.

Approval Must be given in writing by the commanding officer i/c for the member to be readmitted into training. If the member fails to achieve mastery, he or she will be required to resubmit an application and start the process over from the start.

Certification

Successful candidates will receive a JCF Certificate and promulgation in Force Orders.

Candidates will also receive a level 1, 2 or 3 NCTVET certification in commercial driving? motorcycle operations after successfully satisfying the respective course requirements.

CERTIFICATION AND REVIEW PROCESS

The certification and review process at the department of driver training forms an integral part of the process of being a certified drive. Having completed the final stage of the course which is the emergency response training (ERT), participants will then be assessed by an independent instructor (Assessor) who will note his or her comments and the file will be sent back to the General Training instructor and then the instructor will make his final comment and send the file to the chief driving instructor who will peruse the file and note his comments and then forward the file to the Sub Officer charge of the department of driver training.

The sub officer in charge will then make his final assessment before sending the file to the Superintendent in charge of F.O.M.S.T /Manager of institution / company.

DRIVING UNDER SUPERVISION POLICY

Introduction

The Jamaica Constabulary Force (JCF) Driving and Maintenance Courses provide for the requisite training, assessment and authorization for members to operate service vehicles in the designated class and type. These courses support the Force's efforts to effectively manage crime, public order and public safety in keeping with its mandate.

Aside from the requirements to operate in ways that promote professionalism and public confidence, members have a duty to operate service vehicles within the confines of the Road Traffic Act and related legislations. Additionally, there is the constant need to exercise a duty of care for all road users and passengers, as well as the need to safeguard vehicles and related assets. The JCF driver-training is therefore designed to build knowledge, competence and confidence in each participant. One such course is the Qualifying Driving and Maintenance Course.

The Qualifying Driving and Maintenance Course is comprised of four components, three of which are conducted under instruction at the Department of Driver Training. These components are the Assessment, Theory and Practical Driving. The fourth component, Driving under Supervision, is done on-the-job and is managed by the respective members' Commanding Officer. This supervised on-the-job probationary period is envisaged to further hone the member's capability and confidence as a safe and competent driver, enhance knowledge of the geographic outlay of the respective division/locale, and ultimately reduce the potential for accidents and other incidents.

This Policy and Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) seeks to build in and standardize the operationalization of the probationary component of the Qualifying Driving and Maintenance Course. The probationary period will commence at the end of the practical training component and conducted within the Formation the member is assigned.

6.0 Policy Statements

It is the policy of the JCF that:

- 6.1 All members having successfully completed the Practical Training component of the Qualifying Driving and Maintenance Course shall successfully complete the prescribed probation period driving under supervision prior to being certified as Force Drivers.
