INTRODUCTION

The National Police College of Jamaica: Department of Driver Training is committed to providing skill training and certification to members of the Jamaica Constabulary Force, other local and international Law Enforcement Agencies and citizens at world class standards. The skills offered by the Department are levels 2 and 3. The programme offerings are aligned to meet the demands of the JCF. Assessment for clients as well as partners and other stakeholders are conducted in accordance with NCTVET Accreditation Standards. The Department also selects the best cadre of instructors and support staff to conduct training and provides career guidance for its over three hundred participants enrolled annually.

In keeping with the Jamaica Constabulary Force's strategic priorities, the Department embarks on a mandate to strengthen the skillset of its members by delivering driving quality programmes: NVQ-J Commercial Driving Instructions Level III and NVQ-J Commercial Driving Operations Level II.

The Department is committed to meeting the challenges of lifelong learning, knowledge exchange, and social inclusion. In order to do this, the Department offers the best possible level of service to its users, making use of printed collections, the latest developments in online delivery and flexible training schedules.

HISTORY OF THE DEPARTMENT

The district of Twickenham Park (Spanish Town, St. Catherine) was once home to the Jamaica School of Agriculture (JAS) from 1942-1981. After decades of operation, the Department was closed (1981) due to a number of reports commissioned by the Ministry of Education and the fact that it was against the background of a myriad of social, environmental and disciplinary problems.

There was a new initiative by the government of Jamaica to urbanize the Twickenham Park area. This made the land unsuitable to do proper farming and so some was given to Departments such as the Jose Marti School, the Jamaica Constabulary Force and some to factory expansion.

The JCF was given 50 acres (known as The Wing) which is used to train officers in the mobile reserve division in artillery and field craft in 1976. The Police Training School, originally located in Port Royal was relocated to Twickenham Park in 1982.

The JCF managed to negotiate for more land space for the training school in order to accommodate all the training facilities. Successful negotiations accounted for approximately 360 new acres of land. After its relocating in 1962, the Department was renamed the Jamaica Police College (JPA), with its first Commandant, Mr. Larry Trout. The National Police College of Jamaica was established in June 2014.

The Department of Driver Training previously called the Central Driving School has been in existence for over sixty years. During this period, it reported to the transport and Repairs Division now called Transport Management and Maintenance Division. The department is now based at the National Police College of Jamaica within the Faculty of Operations Management and Skills training headed by a Superintendent of Police bearing the title Commanding Officer.

The Department embarked on the strengthening of industry exposure for participants. The exposure created opportunities for them to engage in, and apply theoretical understandings through hands-on experience, while simultaneously learning new information about the world of work.

Standard Operating Procedures

The Department will evaluate employee performance through its appraisal system, identify the training needs of employees and establish an annual Staff Development Plan. The appraisal process is a participatory one during which feedback is provided and recommendations are made for improvement whether through training or other interventions. At the end of the appraisal process, the employee and supervisor will sign-off on the appraisal instrument

For instructors, an additional method of identifying staff training needs is available. Participants will evaluate their instructors by completing an Evaluation Form (see appendix B). These forms are sent to the Secretariat by the Chief Driving Instructor for analysis. Feedback is given to the instructors and where necessary recommendations made for improvement. SECTION 5

TRAINING AND INTERNAL ASSESSMENT

5.1 TRAINING AND INTERNAL ASSESSMENT PROCESSES

POLICY

Assessments are designed to contribute to high quality participant learning and underpin the development, delivery and quality assurance of courses. The assessment procedures are communicated to participants in the Participant's Handbook which can be accessed on the Institution's website, in participant's welcome package and in orientation sessions for all programmes and courses.

These orientation sessions are held face-to face or online. For quality assurance, participants are required to complete and sign the orientation checklist/receipt, in keeping with the standards required for training. During training there are internal assessment processes which are intended to help participants learn (assessment for learning) and measure explicit evidence of their learning (assessment of learning).

Training is always geared towards the professionalization of police officers within their vocational contexts. All systems and procedures are implemented to ensure the integrity and equity of the training and internal assessment. The following standards are integral to the assessment processes:

1. Criterion- referenced and standard- based, provides evidence of the level of achievement with respect to learning outcomes and participants attributes;
2. Transparent processes carried out with honesty, integrity and confidentiality in line with the mission of the Institution;
3. Andragogic informed learning and training;
4. Comprise a variety of tasks which are reasonably achievable by participants; and
5. Assessment that is fair, inclusive and equitable for all participants.

PURPOSE

The figure above sets out the principles that underpin DDT's approach to assessment. This is incumbent on the DDT as the entity charged with the training and development of drivers. The DDT makes every effort to put in place effective procedures for the following:

- a. Designing, approving, monitoring and reviewing the assessment strategies for programmes and courses;
- b. Implementing rigorous assessment policies and practices that ensure the standard for each course element is set and maintained at the appropriate level, and that participant performance is properly judged against this;
- c. Evaluating how training standards are maintained through assessment practice, which also serves to encourage effective learning.

STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURES (SOP)

Assessment is an essential component of the DDT's training process, therefore:

1. Assessment practices are designed to promote engagement, support learning and judge levels of performance.
2. Assessment tasks are aligned with the objectives and the teaching and learning arrangements of the course.
3. Assessment design provides participants with the stimulus to learn and apply their developing skill and knowledge in new situations. It also challenges and alters participant's ways of thinking and doing.
4. All assessment models have limitations.
5. A variety of assessment techniques are used within a course.
6. Assessments are used for both formative and summative assessment purposes.
7. Staff and participants are required to engage in the assessment process with the utmost ethical academic conduct.

DDT strives to maintain completed documents (course outline, assessment schedules, course materials- presentations, rubrics, etc. and course reports) for each course and provide copies of these to the Academic Dean for review and approval when requested.

Assessment evidence is judged according to the principles of:

- Currency- Tasks/activities prove that the participant is competent or not yet competent;
- Validity - Tasks /activities are driven by the performance criteria and the competency/standards being addressed; and
- Authenticity - knowledge/skills/attitude of the participants are shaped in real-life vocational/workplace settings.

FAILURE OF EXAMINATION

If a participant fails an exam, a re-sit is offered for that/those specific cluster(s): only one re-sit per cluster is allowed.

NB: Participants who fail the re-sit must exit the course and, if desired, re-apply after 3 months.

GRADE CRITERIA

The DDT's pass mark for clusters is 60 percent. Achievement of a pass in all individual assessment tasks, course or programme is a prerequisite for passing the course or programme. In such cases the requirement to pass specific assessments is clearly stated in the Course Outlines. This requirement is also addressed in orientation sessions.

ATTENDANCE AND PARTICIPATION REQUIREMENTS

Marks are not awarded for attendance. However, participants must attend a minimum of 90 percent of classes: failure to do so the participant will be removed from the course by the Academic Dean or the Commanding Officer and be encouraged to reapply when they are able to fully focus on the course.

5.2 APPEALS PROCEDURES

POLICY

It is the right of the participants to appeal their grades if they feel the need to do so. This policy provides directives on how the Department of Driver Training will facilitate participant appeals.

PURPOSE

To advise participants of their rights to appeal.

STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE

1. The participant, within two (2) working days after receiving the results, should first discuss the matter with the Assessor with a view of resolving the concern/query.

8. If the participant is not satisfied with the CDI's decision they may apply for a Remark using the said form (see appendix Q).
9. The request must be addressed to the Academic Dean who will decide and respond to the participant within 5 working days.
10. If the Remark is approved The Academic Dean will convene a meeting with the CDI and the affected instructors to review the examination script.
11. The outcome of the meeting will be conveyed to the participant via the Secretariat and the changes, if necessary, will be made.

N.B. If the participant asks for a Go-Through and is not satisfied after the exercise they can request Remark and vice versa. However, each exercise can only be requested once.

5.2.1 COMMUNICATION OF INFORMATION ON TRAINING AND INTERNAL ASSESSMENT

At the beginning of the training, participants are informed about the training and internal assessment requirements. For additional information, the participants may consult the Participant's Handbook, the CDI, Secretariat or the Academic Dean. This is also communicated by the Instructors to the participants during the daily briefing and debriefing sessions. Contents of what was discussed during these sessions are recorded in the Station Diary.

INTERNAL MODERATION

Moderation will allow feedback on the quality and usefulness of the internal assessment instrument. Instructors will be required to participate in the moderation exercises which involve the review, comparison and evaluation of instruments and/or evidence with a view to ensuring consistency in the interpretation of the standards, curricula and methodologies. The Moderation exercise acts as a quality assurance mechanism that must be done at least once quarterly. The Academic Dean has the responsibility for the moderation exercise (see appendix R).

The aim of the moderation exercise is as follows;

5.3.1 ONLINE TRAINING AND ASSESSMENT

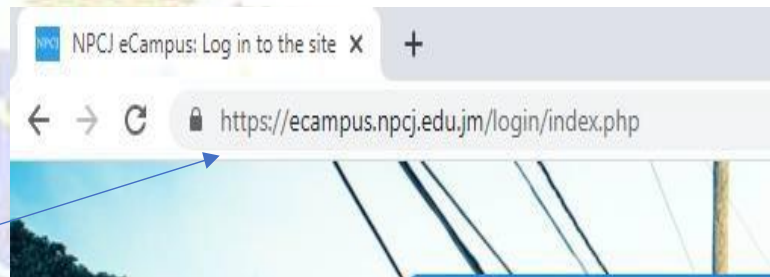

The National Police College of Jamaica uses the MOODLE Learning Management System – E-campus and as such the Department of Driver Training adopts the use of this platform to aid in the online training and assessment of its participants.

This system is used to deliver the theory and theory aspect of courses offered by the Department and is monitored and administrated internally by the NPCJ's Information and Technology Department. Courses are uploaded for course/programme coordinators and the necessary training is coordinated and completed by its representatives.

- a. Comments via emails and zoom classes
- b. Daily written comments from Instructor
- c. Oral discussions before and after assessments
- d. Examination Grades displayed in their individual Progress Booklet

5.5 PROVISIONS FOR THEORETICAL/PRACTICAL INTERFACE AND INSTRUCTOR/STUDENT RATIO

The Department provides time for theoretical and practical interface and an instructor to participant ratio that is adequate for the programmes offered. The Department's standard for instructor to participant ratio is 1:25 (theoretical components) and 1:4 (automobile practical components).

N.B this ratio may be altered from time to time based on the current training needs with the approval of the Academic Dean.

To ensure that adequate time is allocated to the theoretical and practical components of the Qualification and to ensure that the instructor to student ratio is adequate, the following are adhered to:

In an effort to ensure that all courses offered at the Department are effectively executed, all participants are exposed to a period of Internship. This is done over a minimum period of 14 days to a maximum of 90 days (see Driving Under Supervision Policy).

Great emphasis is placed on the internship component of all courses offered as it is designed to allow course participants to develop and hone their skills while in training thus making them more marketable and prepared for the tasks ahead. Therefore, upon completion of this component of any course, the participants should have acquired the necessary skill sets to undertake the workforce and also to be functional in any task given to them.

3. A survey is also conducted on the completion and certificate rate of the courses at the different times that they are offered. This is done in this manner so as to have a comparison of the different number of persons completing the courses when they are offered. This also assists in validating the assessment tools and their effectiveness.
4. A programme/course evaluation is conducted at the end of each course in the form of a questionnaire to invite feedback from the participants.

So that nothing bad occurs, the Health and Safety Manager will take action to reduce these risks. This includes setting up insurance policies for clients or assisting them in doing so, as well as controlling risk exposure through various hedging strategies.
- The health and safety manager will ensure that employees receive the necessary training and knowledge to reduce or eliminate risks in their jobs and areas of accountability.
- The organization's assets will be protected by control systems and other measures that the health and safety manager will assess and put into place.
