1. INTRODUCTION

In the National Police College of Jamaica's (NPCJ) bid to achieve standardization and accreditation, this document outlines the role and mandate of the CDCD in establishing consistency and continuous improvements in the standard operating procedures of the NPCJ. Thus, the vision, mission, mandate, roles and procedures for monitoring the modifications and implementations of curricula, course and programme development are laid out to avoid ambiguity.

2. OVERVIEW OF THE CDCD

2.1. Vision of the Department

“Driving excellence in training to impact organizational renewal.”

2.2. Mission of the Department

To work with our stakeholders to continuously improve training quality through curriculum design, implementation and evaluation to enable the Jamaica Constabulary Force (JCF) to provide the level of service expected by our community.

2.3. Mandate of the Department

CDCD is charged with ensuring that training meets the needs of the JCF. The department monitors and ensures that training is delivered according to JCF, University Council of Jamaica (UCJ), ISO 9001: 2015, International Association of Directors of Law Enforcement Standards and Training (IADLEST) and Heart NSTA Trust Quality Assurance Guidelines for training provision. The department also has responsibility for leading and encouraging innovation in course content, delivery methods and instructor training. The department will work with subject matter/content experts and other stakeholders to prepare the curriculum, implement, monitor, evaluate, review and quality assure training delivery.

3. PURPOSE

The purpose of this document is to re-establish and clarify the role of the CDCD as the arm of the National Police College of Jamaica that will support and coordinate the strategic development and growth of training opportunities for JCF and its auxiliaries.

4. SCOPE

To enable the designing, implementing and reviewing of curricula and support material, programmes and policies geared towards the development of knowledge, functional supervisory capacity, managerial skills and abilities required for the effective functioning of the Jamaica Constabulary Force (JCF).

5. POLICY STATEMENT

It is the policy of the CDCD to:

- ✓ Enhance training decision-making and prioritization;
- ✓ Provide course curricula that support the learning needs of Force personnel and that are in line with the Force's strategic direction;
- ✓ Provide quality assurance, directed at measuring the impact of training for individual members and the Force;
- ✓ Ensure that teaching staff is equipped with the requisite skills and competencies required to effectively deliver and assess training;
- ✓ Foster partnerships with accredited adult education institutions to increase access to external training.

6. RESPONSIBILITIES

The role and functions to be undertaken by the Department are as follows, to: -

- Report to the Academic Board of the NPCJ on matters pertaining to the quality assurance of programmes and assessments;
- Provide support to the Director of the NPCJ in the training decision-making process;
- Work with faculties and divisions, to provide specialist advice on matters related to the curriculum and training;
- Manage the approval process of new programs;
- Develop calendar and timelines for submission and approval of NPCJ courses;
- Design and review curricula and monitor their implementation;
- Provide leadership to faculties and departments in the effective implementation of syllabuses and instructional materials;
- Develop and promote the use of effective learner-centred pedagogies, curriculum models / resources and assessment models to enhance learning in the cognitive, affective, psychomotor and interpersonal domains;
- Carry out training needs analysis to inform the process of training development and delivery;
- Collaborate with faculties on the production of instructional material;
- Promote teaching and learning approaches that are in line with curriculum intent and adult learning philosophy;
- Design assessment models that support the desired learning outcomes;
- Conduct post course evaluation using approved model to ensure learning transference is taking place and individual and organisational performance is enhanced
- Monitor the general environment to ensure that international standards and best practices are used to inform the training programs and practices of the JCF;
- Conduct surveys and research of policing and educational practices, in order to identify training best practices to enhance design and delivery of training;

- Enhance the JCF's operational efficiencies by identifying legislation/policy/procedural issues and external influences for training inclusion to enhance the organization's performance;
- Provide support through training of Instructional Staff for the College;
- Develop, access and coordinate as appropriate training for NPCJ trainers to equip them with the knowledge, understanding skills and abilities to effectively deliver and facilitate training;
- Assist in the design and population of the NCPJ online learning portal.

6.1. Organization and Authority

7. STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURES

Work Directives from the Director

Work directives i.e. projects, etc. may come to the Department primarily from the Director of the NPCJ/ ACP Training or his designates.

Work Requests from Faculty Heads

While assignments will be accepted from Faculty Heads, those relating to new programmes and major curriculum changes must be routed through the Director of the NPCJ/ACP i/c of Training. However, assignments relating to routine performance will be accommodated and returned directly to the Dean, and copied to the Director.

Requests from External Entities

All external requests as well as corresponding outgoing reports should be routed through the Director, NPCJ/ACP i/c of Training and his/her designate who will forward to the Dean for review.

Requests for Course Approval

This process seeks to outline the procedure to be followed when Faculties within NPCJ, JCF Divisions and Formations, Ministry of National Security and external entities propose new or existing courses/programmes to be approved by the ACP Training. This process allows for integration in the processes required by HEART NSTA/Trust or the University Council of Jamaica as well as when certification is requested by divisions.

These procedures cover the following;

- a) New courses
- b) Established courses that a division is seeking accreditation for
- c) Short Courses of no less than 70 hours or two weeks in duration and;
- d) Long courses of over 70 hours.

Courses are to be developed and proposed by the respective training officers in dialogue with subject matter experts and be submitted to the ACP i/c Training. They should be bounded by the procedures below which should cover the following:

Criteria for the Approval and Addition to the Learning Management Systems.

- a) Be in line with the learning needs of JCF personnel;
- b) Be in line with the JCF's strategic direction and priorities;
- c) Responds to core competencies of the JCF and
- d) Be budgeted for.

These procedures shall apply to the geographic and non-geographic divisions as well as faculties of the NPCJ.

Introduction of New Courses and Changes to Existing Course

New Courses

Step 1: The following shall accompany the application request by a faculty, department, division, formation or area for a new course/programme:

- ☐ Completed National Police College of Jamaica Proposal for Training Course Development. This Proposal should include:
 - Cover Letter/Minute detailing the division, formation or area facilitating the course/Email Correspondence, Course Outline (see Appendix 1) AND/OR Training Manual which includes:
 - ☐ Description of the target participants
 - ☐ The period in which they will participate in the course
 - ☐ Proposed timetable
 - ☐ Intentions for assessment

- Training Needs Analysis Report (see Training Needs Analysis Policy) – this may be a short description of the reasons for training
- Description of the resources to be provided by the NPCJ to facilitate course – Rooms, Refreshments, ICT Equipment, etc. (This section, although included, is not necessary by the CDCD and may be excluded from courses developed within NPCJ)

Step 2: The prescribed documents should be submitted to the ACP Training/Director, NPCJ or his designate, who shall forward it to the CDCD for attention.

Step 3: The CDCD shall review the documentation against the standards and engage the requesting entity in developing the required documentation.

Step 4: After the CDCD has reviewed and/or developed the course documents, a Committee comprising the following individuals shall engage in further review and make recommendations or changes as seen fit.

- Head of Entity who has submitted materials
- Faculty Head/Training Officer/Course Coordinator under whose purview the course will fall
- Dean, Academic Studies

Step 5: The ACP training shall be kept abreast of the process and upon completion the Dean, Academic Studies will advise the ACP training on the suitability for approval/certification.

Existing Courses

Step 1: The following shall accompany the application request by a faculty, department, division, formation or area for an EXISTING course/programme:

- Cover Letter/Minute detailing the division, formation or area facilitating the course and a brief description of the course/Email Correspondence, Course Outline AND/OR Training Manual which includes:
 - Lesson Outline/Presentations
 - The period in which they participated in the course
 - Existing timetable
 - A list of the participants
 - Assessment description
 - Outline of the grades received by each participant
 - Course Evaluation
 - Training Impact Evaluation – An indication of the strengths and weaknesses of the previous training. This may be done during the review process, guided by the Policy (see Training Impact Evaluation Policy Document)

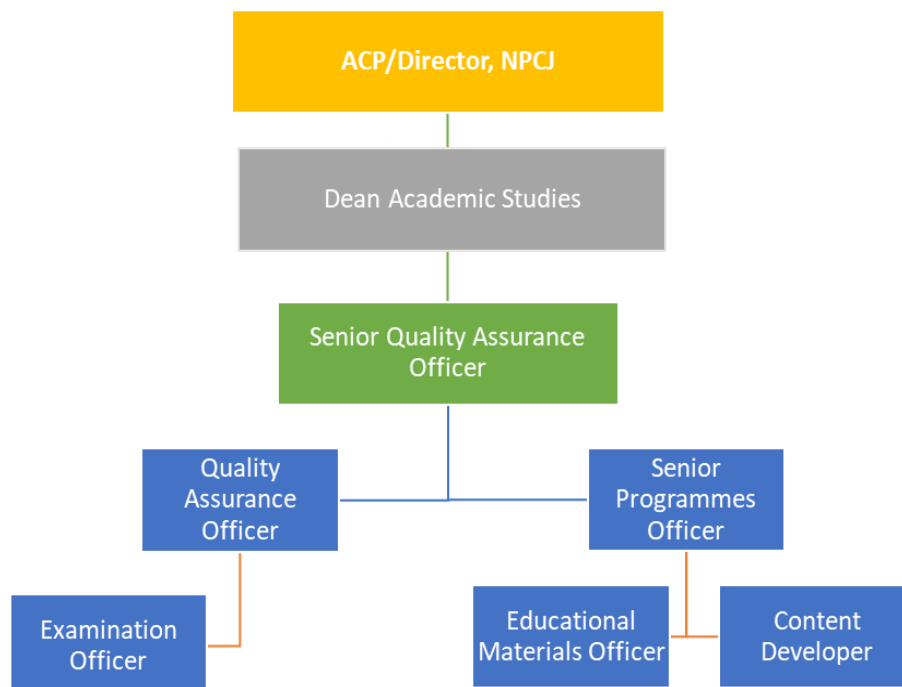

Step 2: The prescribed documents should be submitted to the ACP Training/Director, NPCJ or his designate, who shall forward it to the CDCD for attention.

Step 3: The CDCD shall review and request such further documentation as needed. It might be necessary for the CDCD to work with the entity to document, design and develop such areas that are deficient.

Step 4: During the review stages, the Dean, Academic Studies shall review the documentation and make recommendations for changes to the course/programme

Step 5: The ACP training shall be kept abreast of the process and upon completion the Dean, Academic Studies will advise the ACP training on the suitability for approval.
