1.0 Introduction

The National Police College of Jamaica (NPCJ) is Jamaica’s premier law enforcement training institution, entrusted with preparing members of the Jamaica Constabulary Force (JCF) and other security stakeholders to lead with competence, ethics, and professionalism. In a dynamic national security environment, where rapid technological change, legislative reform, and global standards constantly redefine policing priorities, managing institutional change is essential.

This Change Management Policy and Procedures document is established to provide a clear, consistent, and structured framework for initiating, evaluating, approving, implementing, and monitoring change within NPCJ. Global best practices, national policy guidelines, and internal operational needs inform it. The policy aims to institutionalize a culture of evidence-based, transparent, and participatory change across the College's academic, administrative, and operational systems.

2.0 Purpose

This Change Management Policy aims to provide a standardised and strategic framework through which all changes within the NPCJ are initiated, assessed, approved, and implemented. The policy seeks to minimise disruption, reduce risk, and ensure that all structural, procedural, technological, or academic adjustments are grounded in evidence and stakeholder consultation. Moreover, the policy improves transparency in decision-making and promotes alignment between operational changes and the broader strategic direction of the College and the Ministry of National Security.

3.0 Scope

This policy applies to all departments, divisions, staff, and stakeholders of the National Police College of Jamaica. It governs changes that impact any aspect of the institution’s operations, including but not limited to academic programming, instructional delivery, organisational structure, information systems, physical infrastructure, and institutional policies. The scope extends to initiatives driven by external regulatory bodies, accreditation agencies, the Jamaica Constabulary Force (JCF), or the Ministry of National Security and internally initiated reforms based on institutional assessments or innovations.

4.0 Policy Statements

It is the policy of the National Police College of Jamaica (NPCJ) to foster a culture of continuous improvement, operational responsiveness, and strategic alignment with national and international standards that affect its academic, administrative, and technological frameworks. 8.0 Standard Operating Procedures

The following outlines the procedure for the management of criminal investigations:

8.1 Reasons for Change

- 8.1.1 The College recognises that change may arise from various internal or external triggers. These include:
- 8.1.2 changes mandated by national policy, the Ministry of National Security or JCF High Command;
- 8.1.3 alignment with accreditation and quality assurance requirements;
- 8.1.4 internal reviews and audits;
- 8.1.5 evolving pedagogical approaches such as the transition to competency-based education;
- 8.1.6 technological advancements;
- 8.1.7 cost efficiency initiatives; or
- 8.1.8 stakeholder recommendations, including feedback from trainees, staff, and partner institutions. In all cases, the rationale for the proposed change must be clearly articulated and demonstrably linked to the College's strategic objectives or operational enhancements.

8.2 Classification of Change

To ensure appropriate levels of review and approval, changes within NPCJ are classified into five broad levels:

8.2.1 Level One: Strategic Change

These changes affect the College's vision, structure, or national and international partnerships. Strategic changes include introducing new programmes of study that seek formal accreditation, rebranding the College, or institutional mergers. Such changes require approval by the JCF High Command and endorsement by the Ministry of National Security.

8.2.2 Level Two: Operational Change

These involve modifications to internal processes and day-to-day activities, such as training data, administrative workflows, or human resource procedures, via review and audit by MCAD. The Assistant Commissioner of Police in charge of Training Branch/Director of the NPCJ or his designate shall approve these changes.

8.2.3 Level Three: Academic Change

These refer to revisions in policy and/or procedures. All academic changes are subject to review and approval by the Academic Board and, where necessary, by partner institutions such as the University Council of Jamaica (UCJ) and the National Council on Technical, Vocational Education and Training (NCTVET).

8.2.4 Level Four: Technological Change

This category encompasses implementing or upgrading information systems, e-learning platforms, or automation tools. The individual requesting the change should submit via email to the NPCJ IT Department’s Help Desk and Ticketing/Tracking System. The request is then logged, verified for compatibility, scalability, and cybersecurity, and approved by the IT Manager.

8.2.5 Level Five: Emergency Change

These are high-priority, time-sensitive changes that must be implemented without the full review cycle due to urgent legal, safety, or operational reasons. The Assistant Commissioner of Police in charge of Training Branch/Director of NPCJ or a delegated officer can approve such changes immediately, with retrospective documentation and review.

8.3 Initiating a Change Request

All proposed changes must be initiated through emails and/or meeting minutes. However, as it pertains to student records, completing the NPCJ Change Request Form. The change request must provide a comprehensive rationale, a brief description of the existing system or process, and a clear outline of the desired outcomes.

8.4 Evaluation and Approval

The Change Management Committee will formally and biennially evaluate all change requests across various change levels. This includes stakeholder consultation, resource allocation analysis, feasibility assessment, and risk categorisation. Based on this assessment, recommendations are made and forwarded to the appropriate authority to adjust the relevant policies and procedures. The process emphasises efficiency while safeguarding quality and institutional integrity.

8.5 Implementation and Monitoring

- 8.5.1 Following approval, the responsible department must develop an implementation plan that includes detailed timelines, communication strategies, and resource deployment.
- 8.5.2 Training and orientation may be scheduled to ensure staff readiness. Progress is monitored in accordance with the indicators set by the approving entity.
- 8.5.3 A post-implementation review is mandatory within 60 days to assess success, document lessons learned and address emerging issues.
