1.0. Introduction

The E-campus (Moodle) Learning Management System (LMS) provides facilitators with tools to create engaging course content, manage student enrolments, facilitate discussions, and track progress. Furthermore, students can access course materials, collaborate with their peers, submit assignments, and receive timely feedback through this centralized platform.

The E-campus also offers customization options, allowing the NPC to tailor the learning experience to the unique requirements of law enforcement training. Whether it involves creating scenario-based assessments, providing multimedia resources, or facilitating online forum discussions on tactical strategies, the E-campus empowers educators to design courses that reflect the specific challenges and objectives of law enforcement training.

2.0. Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to establish guidelines and standard operating procedures for the use of the E-campus (Moodle) Learning Management System (LMS) at the National Police College of Jamaica. The E-campus will be used as a tool to facilitate teaching and learning activities and enhance the overall student experience.

3.0. Scope

This policy applies to all facilitators, participants, and administrators who operate the E-campus.

4.0. Policy Statement

The National Police College is committed to implementing and utilizing the Moodle Learning Management System (LMS) as the primary online platform for course delivery, content management, communication, and assessment. The Moodle LMS will be accessible to authorized administrators, instructors, and enrolled students, ensuring secure access through unique login IDs and passwords. This policy aims to enhance teaching, learning, and administrative processes by leveraging the comprehensive features of the Moodle LMS, and fostering a dynamic and effective educational environment for law enforcement training at our institution.

5.0. Roles and Responsibilities

- 5.1. Director NPCJ/ACP Training: The institution administration is responsible for overseeing the implementation and overall maintenance of the E-campus. He will ensure that the necessary infrastructure, resources, and technical support are available to support the effective use of the LMS.
- 5.2. Dean, Academic Studies: The Dean, Academic Studies is responsible for overseeing the content and course materials uploaded on the E-campus
- 5.3. IT Department: The IT department is responsible for the technical aspects of the E-campus. They will provide support for system administration, user management, data backups, security, and troubleshooting.
- 5.4. E-Learning Coordinator: The E-Learning Coordinator, designated by the institution administration, will have administrative privileges and will be responsible for managing the E-campus at an institutional level. They will oversee user enrolments, course creation, system configuration, and ensure compliance with institutional policies.

5.5. Facilitators: Facilitators are responsible for creating and managing the content of their courses within the E-campus. They will ensure that the content is relevant, accurate, and complies with institutional policies and standards. Facilitators will enrol participants in their courses, monitor student progress, and provide timely feedback and support.

5.6. Participants: Participants are responsible for participating actively in the E-campus and engaging with the provided learning materials and activities. They should adhere to academic integrity principles and use the system responsibly. Participants should report any technical issues or concerns to the appropriate support channels.

6.0. STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURES:

6.1. General Guidelines

6.1.1. Access and Security

Access to the E-campus will be restricted to authorized personnel only. Passwords must be kept confidential and should not be shared with anyone. All users are responsible for maintaining the security of their accounts.

6.1.2. Content Creation and Management

Facilitators are responsible for creating and managing the content of their course/modules in the E-campus. The content must be relevant, accurate, and comply with the NPCJ's policies and standards. Facilitators must ensure that all content is properly cited and does not violate any copyright laws.

6.1.3. Course/Module Enrolment

Facilitators or designated administrators will enrol Participants in course/modules. Participants are responsible for ensuring that they are enrolled in the correct course/modules and that they have access to all required materials.

6.1.4. Communication

The E-campus provides various communication tools, including discussion forums, chats, and announcements. All communication must be respectful and professional. Facilitators and participants are encouraged to participate actively in discussions and respond to messages in a timely manner.

6.1.5. Academic Integrity

All users of the E-campus are expected to adhere to high standards of academic integrity. Plagiarism and other forms of academic misconduct will not be tolerated and may result in disciplinary action.

6.1.6. Technical Support

The NPCJ's Information Technology Department will provide technical support for the E-campus. Users are encouraged to seek assistance promptly in case of technical issues or problems.

6.2. Facilitators

All facilitators who utilize the NPCJ E-campus should use the following procedures for creating course/modules, creating course/module resources, and designing course/module content, uploading assignments, gradebook, and creating activities.

Each faculty/department may provide specific requirements pertaining to layout, content and overall monitoring of the application.

6.2.1. Creating Course/Modules

- The course/module should be aligned with the NPCJ's educational goals and objectives.
- The course/module should be designed with a clear course/module outline, which specifies the course/module content, learning objectives, assessment criteria, and legislative requirement (see the NPCJ Course/module and Programme Delivery Policy and Standard Operating Procedures).
- The course/module should be accessible to all participants, regardless of their background or ability.
- The course/module should be regularly updated to reflect changes in the field or new research.

6.2.2. Creating Course/Module Resources

- Course/Module resources should be designed to support the learning objectives and enhance the participants' understanding of the course/module content.
- The facilitator should ensure that the course/module resources are accessible to all participants and comply with copyright laws.
- Course/Module resources should be provided in a variety of formats, such as text, audio, and video, to accommodate different learning styles and preferences.
- Course/module resources should be regularly reviewed and updated to ensure accuracy and relevance.

6.2.3. Designing Course/Module Content

- Course/Module content should be designed to meet the learning objectives and align with the course/module outline.
- Course/Module content should be engaging and interactive, using a variety of instructional strategies and technologies.
- The facilitator should provide clear instructions and expectations for the course/module content.
- The facilitator should assess the effectiveness of the course/module content in achieving the learning objectives and make adjustments as necessary.

6.2.4. Uploading Assignments

- Assignments should be submitted within the designated deadline, as specified by the facilitator or the course/module outline.
- Assignments should be uploaded to the E-campus ONLY or any other platform specified by the NPCJ.
- The format and file type of the assignment should be specified by the facilitator who should ensure that the file is compatible and meets the criteria.
- Plagiarism is not tolerated, and participants should ensure that the work is original and properly cited.

6.2.5. Gradebook

- The facilitator should provide participants with clear grading policies, including the grading scale and criteria.
- Grades should be recorded and updated in a timely manner to provide participants with up-to-date information on their academic progress.

- The gradebook should be accessible to both the facilitator and the participants.

6.2.6. Creating Activities

- Activities should align with the course/module objectives and the learning outcomes.
- The facilitator should provide clear instructions and expectations for the activity.
- The activity should be designed to engage participants and promote active learning.
- The facilitator should provide feedback and evaluate the activity to ensure its effectiveness in achieving the desired learning outcomes.

6.3. Participants

All participants who utilize the NPCJ E-campus should use the following procedures for navigation, participation, communication, academic integrity, and data security.

6.3.1. Access and Login

- Use your assigned login credentials to access the E-campus.
- Keep your password confidential and do not share it with anyone.
- Logout from the LMS when you have finished using it, especially if accessing it from a shared or public computer.

6.3.2. Course Enrolment

- Ensure that you are enrolled in the correct courses on the E-campus.
- Contact your instructor or designated administrator if you are unable to access a course you should be enrolled in.

6.3.3. Navigation and Interface

- Familiarize yourself with the E-campus interface and navigation tools.
- Use the course dashboard or navigation menu to locate and access your courses.
- Follow any specific instructions provided by your instructor regarding course layout or organization.

6.3.4. Course Materials and Activities

- Access and review all provided course materials, including readings, lecture slides, multimedia resources, and assignments.
- Participate actively in discussions, forums, and other interactive activities as directed by your instructor.
- Submit assignments and assessments according to the given instructions and deadlines.

6.3.5. Communication

- Utilize the available communication tools within the E-campus to interact with your instructor and classmates.
- Be respectful and professional in all forms of communication, including discussion forums, messaging, and email.
- Check for any announcements or updates posted by your instructor regularly.

6.3.6. Academic Integrity

- Maintain high standards of academic integrity and avoid any form of plagiarism or cheating.
- Properly cite and reference any external sources used in your assignments or discussions.

- Adhere to the institution's policies on academic integrity and honour code.

6.3.7. Technical Issues and Support

- Report any technical issues or difficulties accessing the E-campus to the appropriate support channels provided by the institution.
- Seek assistance from your instructor or designated support personnel if you encounter any problems related to course materials, assignments, or assessments.

6.3.8. Privacy and Data Security

- Respect the privacy of other users and refrain from sharing personal or sensitive information within the E-campus.
- Adhere to the institution's policies and guidelines regarding data security and protection.
- Report any potential security concerns or breaches to the appropriate authorities.

7.0. Legislative Authority/Guiding Principles

This Policy on Academic Integrity shall be read in conjunction with the Jamaica's Copyright Act 1993; Jamaica Constabulary Force Act, Jamaica Copyright Amendment Act 2015; JCF Standing Orders, the JCF Training Policy and Procedures, NPCJ Quality Assessment Policy, Course and Programme Delivery and Quality Control Policy and Standard Operating Procedures

8.0. Educational Initiatives

The NPCJ will provide educational initiatives to promote continuous quality of the Moodle platform so as to maintain productive and high performance. These initiatives may include workshops, seminars, online resources, and on-the-job training.

9.0. Review and Revision

The NPCJ is committed to maintaining the highest standards of performance and ethical conduct. This Policy and Procedures for Using the Moodle Learning Management System will be reviewed periodically to ensure its effectiveness and relevance. Any necessary revisions will be made in consultation with relevant stakeholders, including students, faculty, staff, academic/advisory boards, and certification and accreditation bodies.
